Snow Waist-High

Food Rushed To Indian Thousands

By HOWARD GRAVES
Associated Press Writer

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — More emergency food supplies were rushed toward the Navajo reservation today after a new storm and whipping winds during the night left thousands of Indians fighting waist-high snow.

Nearly a foot of snow fell in some areas of the 16-million-acre reservation, the largest in the United States.

Air Force rescue helicopter crews stood by to ferry food to Navajos living in sparsely settled areas. A White House aide, Ralph Burns, was sent to Phoenix for a look at the situation, termed the most critical period of modern Navajo history by Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai.

Thomas Sembera, an Office of Emergency Planning official, was in Santa Fe, N.M., and Nakai hoped to get both men out to the reservation.

Tribal officials said the known death toll on the reservation from seven days of snow remained at three persons. But they say about 60,000 Navajos are affected to some degree by the storms.

15 CHICAGOANS NAMED TO CHICAGO CIRCLE COMMITTEE

CHICAGO (AP) — The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois appointed 15 Chicago area residents to the physical education advisory committee for the Chicago Circle campus today.

The appointments are effective Jan. 1. Five men were selected for a one-year term, five men for a two-year term and five for a three-year term.

The committee, created in 1966, acts as citizen-advisors to the physical education program. The appointees include: Mark H. Cox, Morton Grove; Harvey L. Dickinson, Hinsdale; Frank L. Jambois, Chicago; Jesse Owens, Chicago and Raymond E. Snyder, Chicago.

William E. Cowan, Chicago; Larry Hawkins, Chicago; Vernon Herlund, Chicago; Joe F. Maze, Aurora; Mrs. Frances B. Watkins, Chicago.

Tom Frederick, Chicago; Louis Jorndt, Chicago; Ralph Metcalf, Theodore A.E. Poehlmann, Chicago and Norman E. Tenner of Chicago.

Heart Patient Reported 'Still Seriously Ill'

By DAVID J. PAINE
Associated Press Writer

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A hospital bulletin today reported no change in Louis Washkansky's condition and said the world's first heart transplant patient "is still seriously ill."

Washkansky's doctors said Tuesday night that he had made a slight gain after a transfusion of white blood cells.

A spokesman for the team of 30 specialists caring for the 53-year-old wholesale grocer said they would probably repeat the treatment to provide Washkansky with more of the white cells that combat infection.

A sharp decrease in his white corpuscle count Tuesday indicated to physicians that Washkansky's body was acting against its own tissue more than against the borrowed heart he received 17 days ago.

SENTENCED FOR BLUDGEON SLAYING

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — William P. Johnson, 21, of Grayslake, was sentenced to 20 to 35 years in prison Tuesday for the 1964 bludgeon slaying of a Round Lake secretary.

A jury found Johnson guilty Sept. 28 of the murder of Joyce Obenauf, 20.

The sentence was imposed by Chief Judge Glenn K. Seidenfeld of Circuit Court who denied a defense appeal for a minimum 14-year term.

Johnson, police said, admitted the killing shortly after the crime but later the confession was suppressed and he was found mentally unfit to stand trial. He was brought back for trial after treatment in mental hospitals at Chester and Elgin.

Despite Death Of Holt

Says Australia Will Stand Firm On Viet

By GORDON TAIT
Associated Press Writer

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Interim Prime Minister John McEwen said today that the death of Prime Minister Harold E. Holt does not alter the Australian government's commitment to stand firmly beside its allies in Vietnam.

"We will share their efforts and agonies," McEwen told his first news conference after his swearing in. About 6,000 Australian troops are fighting in Vietnam.

Preparations continued at an accelerated pace for the arrival of President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other foreign leaders flying to Australia for a memorial service in Melbourne Friday for Holt, who disappeared last weekend while swimming in the surf off the southeast coast.

The chiefs of state or government heads of all seven of the anti-Communist allies in the Vietnam war were to be on hand for the Melbourne service, and it was obvious that the war would be discussed, at least informally.

Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said members of the Australian government had told him arrangements were being made for such talks. A spokesman for President Johnson said the Americans expected "informal bilateral conversations" but there were no plans for "multilaterals," meaning a session of all the allies at once.

McEwen told newsmen it would be impossible to arrange a formal summit meeting on such short notice.

In addition to Johnson, Holt,

JOHNSON HIGHLIGHTS

Vietnam Peace

The Demilitarized Zone must be respected as the 1954 agreements require. The unity of Vietnam as a whole must be a matter for peaceful adjustments and negotiation.

The North Vietnamese forces must get out of Laos and stop infiltrating Laos. That is what the 1962 agreement required, and it must be respected.

The 20 per cent or so of the population now under Viet Cong control must live under a one-man-one vote constitutional system if there is to be peace.

The political future of South Vietnam must be worked out in South Vietnam by the people of South Vietnam.

We will reciprocate and meet any move that they make, but we are not going to be soft-headed and pudding-headed as to say that we will stop our half of the war and hope and pray that they stop theirs.

LBJ Spending Cut Could Lead To Tax Increase

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — President Johnson complied with a congressional order and took action today that will lead to a spending cut of $4.3 billion. It could also lead to congressional enactment of a tax increase next year.

Johnson signed the spending-cut resolution on his plane as he winged to this tiny island territory from Honolulu, en route to Australia to pay final tribute to Prime Minister Harold E. Holt.

He arrived in Pago Pago at 5:52 a.m. EST, for a brief stopover.

The President noted Congress had pared appropriations by $1.8 billion and vowed he would follow its directive to cut an additional $2.5 billion because of the need to preserve the strength of the dollar.

In the recently concluded session of Congress, the spending cut was made a condition of passage to Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee.

And while the tax bill died, Mills has made clear the same condition would apply when the surcharge proposal is brought up again in January.

Johnson's destination was Canberra, the Australian capital, where he was expected to have an opportunity to chat individually with representatives of his allies in the Vietnam war and perhaps with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The American chief executive will fly to Melbourne on Friday to attend memorial services for Holt, who was lost in a weekend swimming accident.

To Urge Regents Govern College In Springfield

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A special committee voted today to recommend that the Board of Regents govern a new senior college in the Springfield area and that the Board of Governors oversee a similar college to be built in the Chicago area.

By a vote of 5-1, the committee approved the recommendations it will hand to the Illinois Board of Higher Education for consideration at its Jan. 10 meeting.

The Board of Regents now governs Northern Illinois University at DeKalb and Illinois State University in Normal. The Board of Governors oversees Eastern Illinois University at Charleston, Western Illinois University at Macomb and Chicago State and Northeastern State, both in Chicago.

The four committee members who were present — Chairman James C. Worthy of Chicago, Edward E. Lindsay of Decatur, George S. Harris of Chicago and Fred Heitman Jr. of Chicago — supported the recommendation. So did Dr. Joan A. D. Cooper of Evanston.

Richard Stengel of Rock Island voted to place the Chicago area college under the Board of Governors and the Springfield institution under the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

Ray Page, state superintendent of public instruction, passed a vote with the explanation that he sits on all governing boards.

Stengel, in a hospital in Rock Island; Cooper, laid up with a broken ankle, and Page, attending a meeting of the University of Illinois trustees in Urbana, conveyed their votes to Worthy by telephone.

Chairman Worthy told the other members before the voting that he and some other students of the subject "did not want in this state any branch campus."

He said each of the new senior colleges "must not be permitted to become a copy of an existing institution."

Both the U of I and Southern Illinois University had made bids to develop the new colleges.

Worthy said his committee will recommend that "existing institutions and governing boards be called upon for assistance as needed" in building colleges in the Springfield area and in Cook County south of Chicago.

UPHOLD MAIL FRAUD CONVICTIONS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mail fraud convictions of six officers and salesmen of National Chem-Plastics Corp. of St. Louis and Chem-Plastics & Paint Corp. of Las Vegas, Nev., were upheld Tuesday by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

The defendants, convicted last year, claimed in their appeal that they did not receive a fair trial in the court of U.S. District Judge John K. Regan of St. Louis.

But the appellate court said the six men failed to establish that the judge committed prejudicial error.

The defendants in the 1965 trial were Ronald Borchelt and Daniel Angelini of Creve Coeur, Mo.; Robert Murray of Bethalto, Ill.; Dale Espich of Columbus, Ohio; and Harold E. Pritchard and Calvin Popeljoy of Las Vegas.

They were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 30 months to 10 years and fines ranging from $500 to $5,000.

Across the Midwest, mid-South and mid-Atlantic states, outbreaks of various respiratory ailments—many as yet unidentified—have forced schools to close early and businesses to curtail activity.

Though the "bugs" have left some last-minute Christmas shoppers with sore throats, fever, aches and chest pains, their arrival was not totally unexpected.

Last summer, the government's Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta forecast an influenza epidemic in the eastern United States this winter.

Unfortunately, the prediction appears to be coming true. Flu in the Far West is either nonexistent or below normal. In the East and Midwest, however, several epidemics and near-epidemics are already in full swing.

Indict Marcus

For Alleged Kickback Scheme

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal grand jury that indicted a former city commissioner in an alleged kickback scheme masterminded by the Cosa Nostra resumes deliberations today, amid reports that other city departments are being investigated.

Federal and city investigative agencies were maintaining official silence on reported probes into underworld influence in legitimate government.

On Monday, the federal grand jury indicted former Water Commissioner James L. Marcus and five others, including a reputed Cosa Nostra leader, on charges they participated in a $40,000 kickback scheme on an $835,000 city contract.

Marcus, 37, had been considered one of the bright young men of the Republican administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay.

James F. Malone, assistant director of the FBI in charge of the New York office, said the indictments grew out of a long investigation of organized crime's attempts to penetrate the governmental functions.

Marcus has dropped out of sight since the indictment and reportedly is cooperating in the continuing investigation.

Published reports Tuesday said Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan, who also had been investigating Marcus' activities, is pressing an investigation of possible underworld influence in other city departments.

Lindsay told a news conference Tuesday that if the federal charge against Marcus were true, "then it's clear that Mr. Marcus lied to me."

Holiday Traffic

Accidents May Take 625 Lives

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimated today between 625 and 725 persons may die in Christmas holiday weekend traffic, half of the number in crashes in which liquor will be a factor.

The period covered by the estimate will extend from 6 p.m. local time Friday until midnight Monday, Christmas day.

"Somewhere in the neighborhood of 375 Americans are likely to die from traffic accidents related in some way to alcohol," William G. Johnson, council general manager, said in a statement.

"Probing a variety of fatal crashes, researchers in several states agree generally that the rate of alcohol involvement reaches—or surpasses—50 per cent," Johnson said.

The council also estimated 29,000 to 34,000 persons will suffer disabling injuries from Christmas holiday crashes. Statisticians said travel would probably total about 7.9 billion vehicle miles compared with about 7.6 billion during a nonholiday period of equal length.

The last three Christmases provided three-day weekends. In 1966 there were 600 traffic fatalities, in 1965 a record 720 and in 1964 there were 596. During a normal nonholiday period of identical length the count would be about 500.

2 More MIGs Downed

Weather Gives Hanoi Respite

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Foul weather gave Hanoi respite today from U.S. air raids that had been largely centered around the North Vietnamese capital since last Thursday, U.S. officers reported. Most strikes were limited to the southern panhandle.

Pilots returning from missions Tuesday said they shot down two more of the MIGs that have challenged them in fierce dogfights during the unusually clear skies in a season when monsoon storm clouds normally veil North Vietnam's heartland.

Two other Soviet-designed jets were reported probably destroyed.

The U.S. 11th Infantry Brigade, made up of 4,300 jungle fighters, arrived by ship at Qui Nhon for duty in South Vietnam.

This followed up the arrival of the bulk of two fresh brigades of the 101st Airborne Division last week in the biggest Pacific airlift of the war, part of a buildup toward a roll of 525,000 by next June.

At one point last week about 475,000 American servicemen were reported in Vietnam, exceeding the 472,800 committed to Korea at the peak of the Korean War in 1953.

There was an unusually heavy movement home for Christmas, however, of troops who had completed their tours of duty.

To Withdraw 35,000 GIs In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon announced today that the withdrawal of up to 35,000 U.S. Army and Air Force troops from Germany to the United States will begin in April.

Plans for the redeployment were announced last May 2. The aim is to reduce the gold-dollar drain stemming from heavy U.S. overseas spending.

The forces being withdrawn will remain committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Pentagon said: "The forces and aircraft deployed to the United States will be maintained in a high degree of readiness, and equipment will be maintained in the Federal Republic of Germany in sufficient quantity and readiness to insure that the forces and aircraft can be promptly redeployed to Germany."

The Defense Department has said that under emergency conditions it would take about two weeks to fly the Army troops back to Germany, match them up with their equipment stockpiled there, and have them ready for combat.

The theory is that there would be time enough to redeploy the troops—that a period of tension would precede any outbreak.

The action will drop U.S. Army and Air Force troops in Germany to 222,000.

This is the first long-term reduction in the U.S. garrison in Europe since the Cold War began nearly two decades ago.

May Take Months To Clear Debris Of Ohio Bridge

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — Small boats continued to drag the Ohio River today downstream from the collapsed suspension bridge here while divers attempted to free wrecked autos from the mangled steel and concrete 40 feet under water.

The divers use torches to cut the sunken steel girders into workable lengths, which are then hauled up by 100-ton floating derricks. Officials estimate it may take several months to clear all debris from the river bottom.

Searchers have recovered 21 bodies since the Silver Bridge collapsed Friday. It was loaded with bumper-to-bumper traffic at the time, and Civil Defense officials estimate there are at least 40 persons still missing.

No bodies have been brought up since Tuesday morning.

An emergency shuttle service across the New York Central Railroad bridge 300 yards upstream of the collapsed bridge is continuing. Officials hope this will ease some of the traffic on the Pomeroy, Ohio-Mason, W.Va. bridge 20 miles north of here.

NEW YORK (AP) — Debate has broken out in various parts of the country this holiday season over the question: "Is Christmas unconstitutional?"

A number of people argue that some aspects of it are, including Christmas decorations with a religious motif in public places such as schools.

Others contend that school singing of Christmas carols associated with religion also runs afoul of the First Amendment, which provides for the separation of church and state.

COAL MINE FIGURES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois coal production from 63 mines in November totaled 5.68 million tons.

Director L. Leon Ruff of the state Mines and Minerals Department, said Tuesday the total compared to 5.73 million in November 1966.

There were 8,209 miners working during November this year in 32 strip and 31 underground operations in the state. There were four fatalities and 69 non-fatal accidents.

TO RAISE FARES
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago & North Western Railway has been given permission by the Illinois Commerce Commission to raise its commuter fares approximately 5 per cent.

The ICC gave its approval Tuesday to the fare plan, which does not apply to the line's long-distance runs, and will go into effect Jan. 1.

All three retire one rank higher than those held in active service, making them all retired generals.

The switch indicated that the ruling triumvirate was preparing for an election in which they would run as civilian candidates.

This development seemed a major try by the regime to rid their rule of the aspect of military control and give it the look of civilian respectability.

Sen. Percy Unwise

Sen. Percy (R., Ill.) and his wife and companions might well have been killed on their unescorted visit to the devastated village of Dak Son in Vietnam.

Percy landed in the village after asking his hired helicopter pilot to take him. He immediately came under hostile fire and was pinned down for some time while his wife was flown away to safety and military helicopters came back to rescue him. The American embassy says that it will discuss his future schedule with him but that as he is a senator "he has the right to go where he wants."

Does he, and even if he does, should he? It is well and good for a senator not to want to tie down busy military men to see to his security. But it surely is not wise for him to wander off on his own in a battle area. In this case the men who came to his rescue might well have been killed as well. He caused them to risk their lives to save him from an expedition which did not have military sanction, or military purpose.

The furor that would result if a senator and his wife were killed in Vietnam is easy to imagine. The military would certainly be blamed, even if not requested to provide an escort.

At the very least, Sen. Percy was not wise in what he did. And such foolishness by prominent visitors and sightseers ought to be ruled out in the future. (Milwaukee Journal)

What Next?

In the continuing controversy over what caused the riots last summer some people have expressed the opinion that the press — both print and broadcast — had something to do with fomenting them. This has been fostered somewhat by the appointment of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders and its assignment to determine what effect mass media have on riots.

It has been suggested that Detroit might not have happened if Newark hadn't been reported so freely and promptly. In the same vein it is now being suggested that Stokely Carmichael ought to be ignored. The theory seems to be that if we ignore him, and the riots, they will disappear.

What nonsense!

It is the duty of the press to report the facts as accurately as possible. It is well known that when the facts are not available rumor takes over. It is also well known that it was a rumor that sparked the Newark violence—a rumor that a cab driver had been beaten to death by police. Rumor is always more dangerous than truth.

If reportage of Newark had something to do with later events in Detroit, why didn't it have the same effect in New York City? The answer is, of course, the existing underlying and basic reasons for the disturbances which some people would like to brush under the rug by blaming the news media.

SS Hope's Wake One Of Good Deeds

The SS Hope is back in home port in Philadelphia, having concluded the most successful voyage in her young history.

The Hope is the famed white hospital ship whose missions of mercy around the world are made possible by the support of private individuals and industry.

Since she first weighed anchor seven years ago, the ship has visited Indonesia, Vietnam, Peru, Ecuador, Guinea and Nicaragua. For 10 months in 1967, some 280 volunteer American doctors, nurses and technicians from 39 states conducted medical treatment-teaching programs in Colombia. Next March, the ship will sail to Ceylon to begin another 10-month mission.

As Project Hope entered its final month in Colombia, 24,227 patients had been treated aboard the ship or in shore clinics. 1,642 operations had been performed and 162,157 immunizations administered.

A total of 676 Colombian physicians, dentists, nurses and other medical personnel had taken part in formal medical educational exchange programs. The Hope leaves behind in Cartagena a shore-based clinic to continue this work.

Student demonstrators who don't like anything about America were notably absent from the pier in Philadelphia.

What U.S. Unit Aids Aged, Lumberman, Stockman?

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Which federal department aids the elderly, helps the lumberman and promotes livestock production all at the same time?
It's the Treasury Department and it does these and other jobs through tax relief and tax incentives. Officials don't particularly relish the task and would like to give it up to experts in these fields.

They relish less the long list of bills awaiting Congress' return next year which would provide a variety of tax credits ranging from underground transmission lines to antipollution devices and higher education.

And they have a strong ally in Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who contends a tax incentive is nothing more than back-door spending and a failure to face up to a direct-spending program.

Mills said approval of any of the tax credit measures now before his committee would only whet appetites for a legion of other possible credits.

His opposition, together with that of the Treasury Department, will probably mean the death of tax-credit bills standing on their own. They could be attached as riders to other legislation, however.

Money saved through a tax credit, Mills said, must be made up by the rest of the nation's taxpayers and increases the deficit just as much as direct spending because it lowers the Treasury's tax revenues.

The Treasury has no over-all estimate of the tax loss from credits and other incentives but the special exemption for sick pay paid to workers costs $100 million yearly alone. Other forms of tax relief run into the billions.

President Johnson could ask for an overhaul of some tax incentives when he submits his promised tax-revision bill to Congress next year.

Stanley S. Surrey, a former Harvard University professor and now assistant Treasury secretary for tax policy, has placed his department on record against tax incentives to solve the nation's social ills.

He and other Treasury officials, like Mills, prefer the direct approach.

"The immediate leap to the tax solution serves only to stultify things about the social troubles," Surrey has said.

And once the leap is made there's no chance to explore details of a program each year as Congress would do if direct federal spending were involved.

Surrey also contends tax relief closes the door to the study of alternative solutions to the many problems facing the nation.

"Our progress in space exploration is not built on tax incentives, but on direct relations between government and business that bring forth the required participation by private enterprise," he said.

"Our capsules are not propelled into space by the Internal Revenue Code," added Surrey.

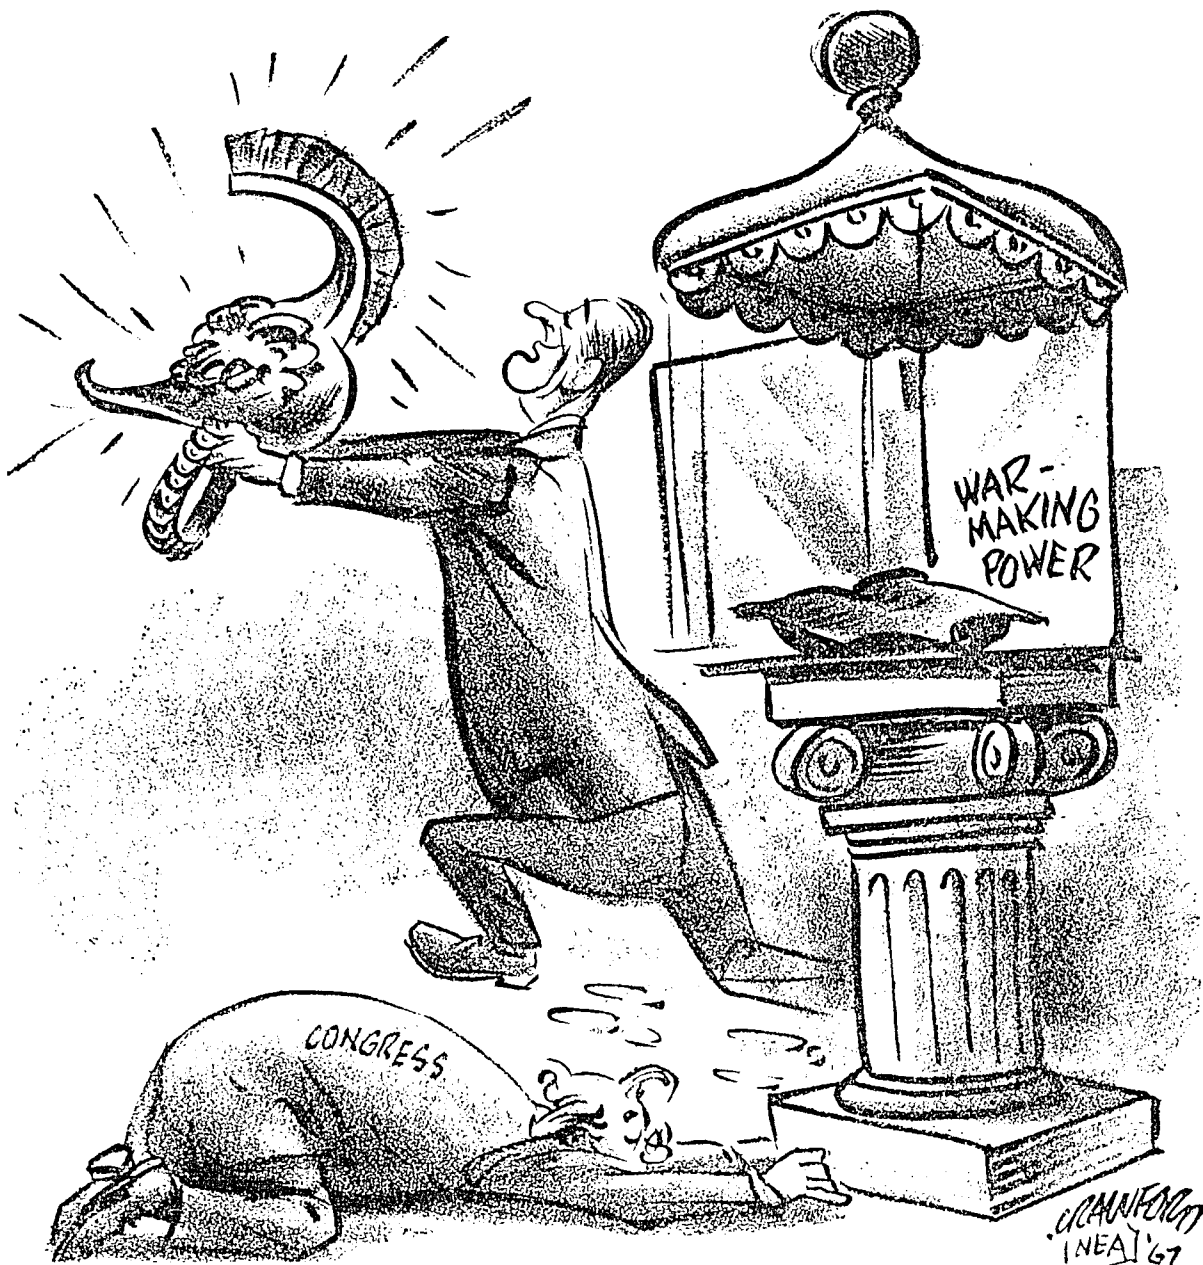

Another Treasury official, Melvin I. White, deputy assistant for tax policy, said if the nation continues down the tax-incentive road the Treasury will soon be making crucial decisions in all economic matters.

"I can assure you that the prospect of such an empire is not really an appealing one to the Treasury Department," he added.

A tax system, Surrey said, is presumably designed to raise money but at present is more like a spending system couched in tax language.

This Is Our Air Force or...

The Grating Rating Of Officers

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — An officer's military career usually hangs on his efficiency reports. They're a vital factor in his promotions. They often determine whether he gets a unit to command or a routine job to get him out of the way. They can open doors or almost literally hang like an albatross around his neck. These reports are made out by his superiors, usually once a year. They stay in his files permanently.

It is sometimes difficult to write these efficiency reports. It can be impossible to accurately describe an officer and his potential in a few words and figures. The results are often amazing.

Pentagon Navy men have acquired examples of some of the more unusual comments found on Air Force efficiency reports. They're now being passed around in Navy circles for the "education" of Navy commanding officers.

Selected examples follow:
This officer has talents but has kept them well-hidden.

A quiet, reticent, neat-appearing officer — industrious, tenacious, diffident, careful and neat. I do not wish to have this officer as a member of my command at any time.

Can express a sentence in two paragraphs at any time.

His leadership is outstanding except for his lack of ability to get along with his subordinates. He hasn't any mental traits.

His departure is in no way considered a loss. In fact, it is a gain. His transfer was concurred in by all commanders with relief.

He needs careful watching since he borders on the brilliant. A particularly fine appearance when astride a horse.

Believes sincerely in the power of prayer and it is astonishing to note how many times his prayers are answered.

Open to suggestions but never follows them.

Never makes the same mistake twice but it seems to me that he has made them all once.

In any change of policy or procedure he can be depended upon to produce the improbable hypothetical situation in which the new policy will not work.

Gives the appearance of being fat due to the tight clothes he wears.

Is keenly analytical and his highly developed mentality could best be used in the research and development field. He lacks common sense.

An independent thinker with a mediocre mentality.

Is stable under pressure and is not influenced by superiors.

Tends to overestimate himself and underestimate his problem, being surprised and confused by the resulting situation.

Maintains good relations unilaterally.

Of average intelligence except for lack of judgement on one occasion in attempting to capture a rattlesnake, for which he was hospitalized.

Recently married and devotes more time to this activity than to his current assignment.

Ann Landers:

Write That Letter

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for the thousands, maybe millions of people in the country who should sit down and write to a mother, father, sister, brother, grandmother or good friend. Yet they have put it off because they think they have nothing of interest to say.

Modern life pulls families apart. It also makes heavy demands on our time and energy. We all know it is not easy to write a gem of a letter. Moreover, when most of us review the week's activities they seem too dull to recount. Please take my word for it, friends, they won't be dull to the person you are writing to. Just receiving a letter gives most folks a lift. Almost anything you say in a letter will be of interest if the person cares about you.

So don't wait for something spectacular to happen. Sit down today and write that letter you've been putting off. You'll feel good about it and you will make someone awfully happy. —T.M.M.

Dear T.M.M.: We all need an occasional nudge to do the things we know we should do. Thank you for this gentle prodding.

Dear Ann Landers: An aunt and uncle who raised my brother and me announced at dinner last night that they have purchased 12 burial plots "so we can all rest together." The plots are for my aunt and uncle, myself, my husband, our two children, my brother, his wife and their two children, and my grandparents whose remains my aunt and uncle plan to have moved.

I said nothing when the announcement was made but later my husband and I talked it over and decided we don't want to obligate ourselves in this way. First of all, we feel that Aunt and Uncle should not have made such far-reaching plans for our children who are teen-agers. They may want to be buried with their mates (assuming they marry) or they may want to be cremated and not buried at all. Furthermore, my brother's wife's family might have some objections. I did not discuss this with her, but I could see from the expression on her face that she wasn't too pleased with the idea either.

Aunt and Uncle have been wonderful to us and we don't want to hurt their feelings. Please tell us what to do.—TOO MUCH TOGETHERNESS

Dear Too Much: It was presumptuous of Aunt and Uncle to expect you to accept their ground rules, if you will pardon the expression. The chances are good that they will predecease you, in which case you have plenty of time to decide what you want to do. In the meantime, say "Thank you" and make no comment.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a young girl with terrible looking legs. It's not that they are too fat or too thin; in fact, they are shaped rather well. The problem is that my legs are all blotchy from poison ivy and poison oak. I also have an ugly scar where I cut myself on a milk bottle when I was very young. The textured stockings and high boots are a blessing, but eventually they will go out of style and then what will I do? Do you know of a solution?—LOOKING AHEAD AND DREADING IT

Dear Looking: If your legs are as unsightly as you say, you should see a physician about a procedure called abrasive planing. The outer layer of skin can be removed by a sanding process. This operation has proven highly successful in a great many cases.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Thoughts

And afterward he read all the words of the law, the blessing and the curse, according to all that is written in the book of the law.—Joshua 8:34.

Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always to remain unaltered.—Aristotle's ancient Greek philosopher.

BARBS

Our desk mate smokes a pipe, and we devoutly hope that some of these times he'll try tobacco.

Question of the week: Why did you pack the glass ornaments UNDER the Christmas tree stand after the holidays last year?

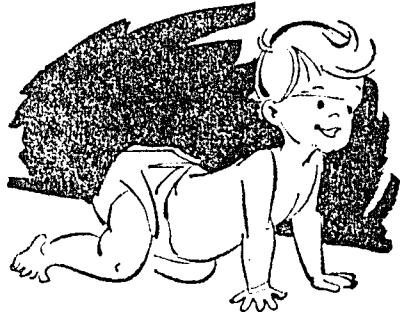

How long has it been since someone at your house read the Christmas story to the family on Christmas Eve?

Tell great-grandma about the good, old Christmases. If she has any spunk at all she'll remind you tartly of the three days she spent in the kitchen each yuletide.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Infant mortality—the number of deaths of children under one year of age per 1,000 live births—dropped to a new low of 22.9 in the first six months of 1967, says The World Almanac. The 1966 rate was 23.4, a drop of 13.7 per cent since 1958, the last year when the percentage of deaths failed to decline.

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR WAR DADS AND AUXILIARY DEC. 12

The American War Dads and its Auxiliary held their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Thomas Ruby, on December 12th. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Ruby, Mrs. Wm. Fanning and Mrs. Opal Bonds. A potluck supper was enjoyed with the hostesses furnishing the turkey, dressing, potatoes and cranberries. After the dinner hour card bingo was played with prizes going to various members. At this time it was voted to meet from the fourth Tuesday of the month to the third Tuesday. The January meeting will be on the 16th. The regular chapter and past presidents both gave a party for veterans at the State Hospital under the auspices of the Volunteer Service Department.

Gold Speculation Finally Subsides In Europe

LONDON (AP) — Gold fever finally subsided in Europe Tuesday and demand by private buyers returned almost to normal. Most estimates put this drain at a minimum of $1 billion, with 60 per cent of its coming from the United States through its quota in the seven-nation gold pool. Bullion dealers in London reported that gold buying was near the normal level, with about 10 tons sold during the day. At the height of last week's gold rush it was 10 times that. "Speculators will be watching for any new factors, and signs of uncertainty or clumsiness by the U.S. authorities or the gold pool members could trigger off the whole thing again," one dealer said. The danger of a new gold rush had not vanished entirely. Private hoarders, still fearful of the stability of paper money or hoping to make a quick killing on a rise in the price of gold, held on to the stocks they had drained from government gold reserves in the past month. The market's renewed stability was due in part to a weekend statement by the U.S. Treasury and Federal Reserve Board that the United States would continue to peg the price of gold at $35 an ounce. Potential buyers then apparently decided it meant they would be able to buy when they wanted in the future and stayed out of the market. The lack of sellers kept the price at $35.19, just one-quarter of a cent below the official ceiling. Trading in Zurich, Frankfurt, Brussels and Paris was far below last week's record levels. The easing of the gold market was reflected in reviving demand for paper currency. The dollar was higher in foreign exchange markets throughout Europe. In London, the pound jumped 24 points in one day to $2.403.

When you ask an Accutron owner for the exact time... he might tell you it's the 14th.

People act a little strange when they get an Accutron Calendar model. It's almost as if the combination of exact time and exact date is too much to take. You see, no one's ever offered a calendar timepiece, or any timepiece for that matter, that hums, has a tuning fork and comes with a "no more than 60 seconds off a month" guarantee.

But it's only fair to warn you that everybody won't be completely satisfied with the Accutron Calendar.

Our calendars don't come with pin-up girls.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20—Born today, you have a definite positive character. Your mental agility is well known, as is your determination to achieve your goals even at high cost to yourself. You will have to take care that you don't sacrifice too much in the way of personal relationships in your chosen field, for it would be easy for you to give up life on a personal level for a taste of fame and fortune.

There are few tasks you would not undertake if you thought their accomplishment necessary to your success. You would not, however, undertake anything that would compromise your principles or lower your standards of behavior. Hard work and long hours comes naturally to you—but so does right thinking and proper action. Your adaptability makes it possible for you to succeed almost anywhere.

In your personal relationships there are bound to be strains and stresses, for you are inclined to take more than you give in an emotional way. Make an effort to respond more readily and more deeply to other people, especially those who depend upon you for their well-being. There is no reason why career success can't be coupled with success on the domestic scene.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, December 21
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—It may take considerable courage to approach another on a private matter, but the wise Sagittarius will take the step.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Make yourself worthy of others' administration. Be especially careful of the example set for children.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21, Feb. 19)—Only the witless Aquarius will bite off more than he can chew. These are times for gauging your energy correctly.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21)—You should find out today whether or not you have inspired loyalty to your cause. Others will tip their hands.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20)—Don't let the holidays catch you unaware. Take care of last-minute details now, before the final rush begins.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—Another's happiness may well depend upon the kind of decisions you make today. Bear in mind the favors others have done you.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Stick close to home. Help plan the holiday festivities with those you love best. Go out of your way to assist.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Holiday plans could easily be upset today if you are not alert to changes around you. Include others.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 31)—The excitement of children should set the home mood. Don't bring thoughts of depression home with you or you may spoil things.

VIRGO (Aug. 21-Sept. 23)—Bring your personality to bear on the day's difficulties. You can create serenity out of near chaos if you keep your wits about you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Take the opportunity to play an important part in another's life today. Let the spirit of the coming holidays reign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Take no unnecessary risks today. You could easily court accidents if you attempt to show off for another's benefit.

Pittsfield Man Injured As Trucks Collide

PITTSFIELD — A 63-year-old Pittsfield resident was reported in serious condition Tuesday night at Illinois hospital where he was taken after his pickup truck collided with a tractor-trailer unit on Illinois 107, four miles north of Pittsfield.

The injured man, Virden Williamson, was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

Police said the accident occurred at 2:50 p.m. Tuesday as Williamson's truck pulled onto the highway from a private drive and was hit by a northbound tractor-trailer driven by Raymond Smith, 32, of Milton. Smith reportedly swerved in an attempt to avoid a collision and struck the smaller vehicle on the right side. Smith, who is employed by Hoover Brothers Trucking company of Milton, was not injured.

State police report the accident is still under investigation. No tickets have been issued.

CASS COUNTY BEAVER CATCH—Dave French, a trapper here for more than half a century, displays to first grader Kevin DeSollar a recent "catch" after running the French trap lines. The beaver shown in the picture weighs 60 pounds and its flappers have a spread of 6 inches—the biggest beaver caught in this area. Many people are unaware that beavers actually are found in the Sangamon Valley section, but French says they have caused flooding of corn fields by building dams that obstruct the free flow of drainage districts. In this picture French is explaining to his young and vitally interested friend that the leather-like beaver tails are used for a variety of things including signalling. The Indians, French maintains, considered beaver tail a real delicacy. (Photo by Kenneth DeSollar)

French 'Corps' Cleaning Out Beavers Pests Dam Drainage Districts

BEARDSTOWN — Demonstrating anew an uncanny talent for trapping fur animals that are causing expensive damage to farm crops and stock, Dave French this week caught a 60 pound beaver and several smaller ones which had "dammed up" drainage ditches in the Sangamon River bottoms.

Chester Taylor, Louis Marwin and Henry Krohe, drainage commissioners, called on French when water in the ditches lacked only three inches of going over the banks and flooding corn fields, due to beaver dams.

Dave first "pulled down" some of the dams which had been built by the beaver and then made three beaver "sets" in which he utilized a special lure as well as a trap anchored in the water with concrete blocks.

Lure Of French
French concocts the lure from glands taken from young beaver and mixed with oil of birch. He calls his special trap arrangement a "drowning device" which works good on most of the animals. The sixty pounder trapped a few days ago, however, was big and strong enough to pull the cement block out of deep water and onto the shore. "He was waiting for me when I ran the traps," French said, "and I tell you those babies are dangerous in a trap. I read only recently of an Indian in Wisconsin who tried to kill a trapped beaver with an ax, and missed a blow so that the beaver slashed the Indian's leg. The fellow almost bled to death as a result."

The 60 pound animal, together with a beaver weighing 30 pounds and several smaller ones, represented a most successful catch for French. He said the big one was a record for him and probably few persons in this area had ever seen a beaver that big.

On the same trap run French caught both grey and red foxes and muskrats. Just a few weeks ago one trip over the trap line netted him 37 "rats" and an unusually large mink.

Goes 'Whole Hog'
French doesn't skin the animals—that is old fashioned in these modern times for a trapper who "runs his traps" in a truck. He freezes the animals and sells the whole carcasses to a buyer, who accomplishes the skinning by machine and uses the meat for a feed sold to mink farmers. The reputation French has established as a trapper through the years—he has been at it since he was a boy—has put him in demand as an after-dinner speaker. His last engagement was at Arenzville last week.

He generally displays and demonstrates his various kinds of traps, shows bottles of the special lure which he has used with success and in the future may be able to show slides of various trapping experiences, since he has recently begun taking pictures on his tours.

Accidents Slow Traffic On Icy Bridge

BEARDSTOWN — Five cars were damaged in two separate accidents on the icy Beardstown highway bridge within 10 minutes Tuesday morning. None of the occupants of the cars suffered injury, but two of the vehicles had to be towed away, and traffic was stalled for a time.

Lewis Farwell and Joe Jobe were the drivers of two cars which crashed near the Schuyler side of the bridge about 7 a.m. Ten minutes later cars driven by William Hering, Don Estes and Edgar Ray slid into a smushup.

State police did not immediately issue any tickets, in view of the fact that the bridge floor was slick.

On The Spot
Roy Frankenhof, Illinois-Star reporter, was "at the scene" of another wreck in which his car and one driven by Harriet Self were involved at a city intersection.

Police ticketed the reporter for failure to yield the right of way. Gregg Meyer was arrested on charges of driving 40 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone and is to appear at a later date.

REPORT 6 VEHICLES DAMAGED IN THREE ACCIDENTS TUESDAY

Six vehicles were damaged in three separate accidents involving property damage amounting to several hundred dollars city police reported Tuesday night. Officers said a car, driven by Edward E. Baldwin of 317 North Clay Court, eastbound on Morton, stopped for the traffic signal, was struck from the rear by a tractor-trailer unit operated by William E. Richardson of route one, Kansas, Ill.

Richardson said he was unable to get the truck stopped in time to avoid striking the auto. Officers listed the time of the accident at 4:15 p.m.

Two cars were damaged on the west side of the public square about 2:15 p.m. when a unit, driven by Gladys H. Hammitt of 1035 West College, backed into a southbound car, operated by Kenneth W. Dunham of Meredosia.

Officers listed an accident in the 200 block of East College at 1:45 p.m. when an auto operated by Clifford Smith of 1617 Hardin was turning onto East College and collided with the rear of a car, operated by Jerry Hobson of 226½ East Morgan.

REITHER
on Beardstown
By Virgil Reither

BEARDSTOWN — More than at any time of the year, the Christmas season, of course, is the season for the youngsters, and they brighten up the lives of the adults in many ways.

Three local juveniles contributed considerably to the joy of Christmas lately.

At the First Lutheran church the other evening on the occasion of the annual Yule program, one had looked the audience over in consternation as the affair began to move and exclaimed in a clearly audible protest:

"You can't start now, my mommy isn't here yet."

Another take at another church experienced a complete loss of memory as he mounted the platform for his part in a program, and so he calmly supplemented with a rendition of his favorite melody: Dave Crockett.

The story of another preschooler concerns a happening while watching a TV program that included a repetition of the word "American." "Mommy," said the little one, "are we Americans?" "Of course we are," was the reply.

"Well," countered the carbon copy, "that is funny, I always thought we were human beings."

But if the local couple has any time in the Mesa area this year it will be in spite of a miraculous escape from injury and a heavy loss as the result of a turnpike crash near Lawrence, Kansas Dec. 15.

Newton, a steam fitter employed by the Caldwell Engineering company, and his wife were back home this week thinking much more of being properly grateful for their escape than about the possible change in vacation plans.

The vehicle in which the local couple was heading for Arizona was involved in a crash that totally ruined their station wagon and a camper trailer which contained furniture, cooking equipment, clothing and other personal belongings.

"The good Lord was certainly watching over us," Newton said here Monday night. "I don't understand yet how we got out alive, let alone without a scratch."

Newton said he was pulling a camper unit belonging to his sister, Mrs. John Giedl of Bloomington, when the accident happened in heavy traffic about 5 p.m. A car passing, going out of control and crashing with a truck caused the accident.

The local man described his vehicle, which had only 2,700 miles on it, as a "total loss" as were most of their belongings in the camper.

Newton will be going back to Lawrence to negotiate with his insurance company and the other involved in the wreck but was not ready to announce any plans for the future.

Likes Bird Sounds And Spirited Women

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Rex Harrison says he can't understand why he is regarded as sophisticated.

I don't feel at all suave, velvet or sophisticated," he said, "I'm taking a modest sip of pre-lunchon champagne in his hotel suite.

"I'm not sophisticated at all. Otherwise, I wouldn't live on top of a hill and make wine. I'm happiest when I'm living the life of a peasant, which is about the best you can do."

When their careers permit, he and his wife, Rachel Roberts, live the simple life together with five cats and a basset hound named Homer at a small hillside estate at Portofino on the Italian Riviera. There they make wine from their own grapes.

"I make about 12 or 14 demijohns a year," said the film star. "Right now I've got quite a backlog. I suppose I'll have to get some labels made and flog it to the village."

The 59-year-old actor, who is as disarming in person as he is charming on the screen, is momentarily at loose ends following the completion of "Dr. Dolittle," the animal classic in which he speaks to several species, ranging from a crocodile to a goldfish, in their own tongues.

During the filming of this $20-million epic he became one of the handful of people who have ever taken a ride on a giraffe's back.

"It was done with great care—the animal had to be trained for a year," said Harrison, who enjoyed working with the animals.

Rex, having appeared in some 31 films, believes he'd like to direct one for a change.

I asked Rex what he thought his biggest virtue as a human being was, and his biggest defect.

"Well," he said, "my philosophy is that one should make the most of every moment of one's life. That implies dedication, and whether I'm working or playing I try to do it in a dedicated manner."

What are the things you like, Rex?

"The sun most of all, I'm very fond of first light and sunsets—the opportunity of meeting a great number of people, but also being solitary at times—country sounds rather than city sounds—reading—three-button jackets—tweed suits—the music of clari-nets and flutes—the feeling of hardly ever being bored—and spirited women.

"Spirited women can cause a tremendous lot of bother, but they are well worth it.

And what are your dislikes, Rex?

"Snobs—people who try to be what they aren't and have affectations that don't become them—women who have no real interests beyond their social life—sitting through an opera, that will show you how lowbrow I am—and having my house burgled. It's happened to me more than once, and I find it a very spooky experience."

Hawaii Tourists Want Taste Of Poi

HONOLULU (AP)— Poi, a rich, pasty hawaiian food, is gaining in popularity as a health and infant food. The tourist industry wants an ever-increasing supply to give the close to one million visitors a year a taste of Hawaii.

And many residents eat it for breakfast, lunch and dinner as a supplement for rice or potatoes.

But, as the demand for the sticky substance, which is made from the root of the taro plant, goes up, the supply is going in the opposite direction.

The Hawaii State Agriculture Department says the taro acreage in the state has dropped to about 390 acres from about 440 acres last year.

The greatest percentage of taro is grown in small family-owned plots. It is grown in flooded fields similar to rice paddies.

The price the farmer gets for his taro today is higher than it has ever been.

So why the shortage? —The weather often brings floods that do extensive damage to taro paddies which are never rebuilt.

—The sons of the taro farmers don't want to follow in their father's footsteps—bending over in the hot sun with water up to the knees.

—Land in Hawaii is at a premium. A taro farmer can often get more for his land than he could make in 10 years of growing taro.

—The taro farmers have neither the capital nor the equipment to take advantage of recent advances in agriculture technology for growing taro.

Dr. G. Donald Sherman, associate director of the Hawaii Agriculture Experiment Station at the University of Hawaii, says there are two methods of growing taro.

One is the wet land or paddy-culture method, which is now almost exclusively used by the farmers. The other is the dry-land method, which has until recently been considered uneconomical since an inferior quality of taro resulted.

Sherman says a four-year project carried out by the experiment station shows that the dry-land method, under proper fertilization and crop management, can produce taro which is of a quality equal to the paddy-culture taro in making poi.

But, the farmers don't want to change their ways, Sherman said. "We're faced with a social problem."

Sherman says considering the present price of poi and the price the farmer gets for taro, it would be a solid investment for one of the state's sugar or pineapple plantations.

"They have the capital, land, and equipment needed," Sherman said. "But, as yet I know of no concrete plan by any plantation to grow taro."

LIABILITY CLAUSE FOR STATE EMPLOYEES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — In compliance with a 1967 state law the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings Tuesday announced liability protection has been obtained for its workers.

The department's more than 9,000 employees are protected up to $100,000 against liability arising out of their work. The premium is $299,916 for the year started Dec. 15.

AUTOMATED DENTISTRY

LONDON (AP) — Six-year-old Jonathan Rea crept into the garage, tied one end of a thread over his loose tooth and lopped the other end over the bumper of his father's sports car. Not noticing his son, the elder Rea roared off to work, the tooth trailing behind him.

Urban Unrest

We have this unrest. We have this uncertainty. We have this desire of people who have been held down all these years to rise up and try to secure, quickly, what has been denied them so unjustly so long.

We have more violence than we want, and more than we should have, more than we are going to be able to tolerate.

I think our big problem is to get at the causes of these riots. I think that some of the causes are the hopes of the people themselves. They don't have jobs. They want jobs. So we are going to have to provide jobs.

I am going to call in the business of America and say one of two things have to happen: You have to help me go out here and find jobs for these people, or we are going to have to find jobs in the government for them and offer every one of them a job. I think that is one thing that could be done. I think that will have to be done, as expensive as it is.

Today's Youth

I think it is a very small percentage that have given up, who have lost faith, who have deep questions about the future of the country and of themselves.

We have more than 3 million young people serving in uniform. I hear from about 100 of them every day. They don't get the attention that you television people give these exhibitionists. They don't have anyone to make signs for them and parade getting their picture in the papers. They are just there from daylight to dark, fighting for freedom and liberty, and willing to die for it. They are a pretty large number, comparatively speaking.

I doubt there is anything like that many hippies, or I doubt that there are that many disillusioned people.

Domestic Dissent

I am amazed that some of these so-called liberal folks who reserve for themselves the right to speak long, loud and freely, but when the opposition views are expressed, they try to drown it out with cat-calls, eggs or tomatoes.

Economy-Taxes

We think the business activity is going to pick up. We think there is going to be increased production. We think it is very essential that we have a tax bill.

1968 Election

I am going to do what I think is best for my country, at home and abroad, without regard to what effect it has on my future. If they (Republicans) will do the same thing, we will have a good government, a good country, and then we can let the election take care of itself. And I think we will have a good election.

Food Rushed

The weather picture was similar over much of the snow-smothered Southwest. Nearly seven feet of snow was reported on the ground at Flagstaff in northeast Arizona. Eight deaths during the past two days were attributed to snow in California, where snow fell at Porterville in Tulare County for the first time in four years.

A different weather hazard—rising temperatures which could cause flooding—was reported in some areas of Arizona. Several persons were evacuated at Miami, Ariz., when water in the Bluebird Mine Reservoir was just a foot below the top. Floods were reported in a Phoenix residential area after a downpour.

The U.S. Weather Bureau had heavy snow warnings in effect during the night for much of Arizona and New Mexico.

The federal government had taken no action on Nakai's request that the Navajo reservation be declared a disaster area so that additional heavy equipment could be obtained to help clear snow-plugged roads to villages and hogans.

"Give us a clear 24 hours and we can make a lot of medicine," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs Navajo area director, in reference to the blocked roads.

Holmes said the bureau had 69 tons of surplus food commodities on the way by truck and another 77 tons were being held in reserve. The New Mexico Welfare Department sent additional foodstuffs to the Indian areas of Crown Point and Shiprock, N.M.

A double-barreled combination of storm centers—one over northern Arizona and the other in the Pacific Northwest—scattered heavy snow over virtually the entire length of the Rockies.

While snowfalls through northern sections were not as heavy as the smothering amounts burying the Southwest, bitter cold temperatures compensated in severity. The mercury failed to rise above zero throughout Tuesday in parts of Montana, and a reading of 14 below stung Dillon, Mont., before dawn today.

The snow extended northwestward into Washington and to the Oregon coast where Portland residents went into a fifth straight day of snow. Tire chains were needed to negotiate mountain passes farther inland.

Hazardous-driving warnings extended eastward out of the Central Rockies of Colorado and Wyoming into western Nebraska.

Clear skies prevailed across much of the country east of the storm region. And for portions of the Southeast, Tuesday was the warmest ever for the month of December. Augusta, Ga., and Charleston, S.C., basked in 62-degree readings.

Heart

Until he took a turn for the worse over the weekend, Washkansky had made a startling show of robustness since the heart of a 25-year-old woman who died in an auto accident was implanted in his chest Dec. 3.

The white cell transfusion, gathered from the blood of four donors, was made on the recommendation of a French blood cancer specialist who reported the treatment had remarkable results in some cases.

Washkansky's physicians were working virtually in the unknown on the world's first human heart recipient, and Dr. M.C. Botha, the team's chief pathologist, acknowledged they were "playing this by ear."

and the U.S. Command listed the total in Vietnam as of last Saturday midnight at 470,000.

Debarcation of the infantry brigade again pushed the unofficial estimate of troop strength here past the Korean peak.

Pilots who raided the Hanoi area said the city's principal bridge—the 19-span Paul Doumer Bridge across the Red River—was battered beyond use. They reported eight spans were down and three more were damaged.

The bridge is one of two over which all road and rail traffic from Red China to Hanoi must pass and is the principal artery for munition and war supplies moved by land.

There was no estimate of how long it would take to get the bridge functioning again. But intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese have been working during the past month of cloud cover to build pontoon bridges and bamboo structures which could be quickly floated into place as substitutes.

The raiders also pummeled the big railroad shops on the northeastern edge of Hanoi. Pilots said they caught some 50 rail cars and left them under a blanket of flame and smoke.

The two MIG kills brought the total number of Communist jets claimed by American pilots to 101. The American Command credits Red pilots with shooting down 36 U.S. warplanes over the North, including two since the letup in the northeast monsoons last Thursday permitted the resumption of intensive attacks on the Hanoi area.

Carrying new dull-black M16 rifles and dark green field equipment, the 11th Brigade troops marched onto Vietnamese soil to a welcome from Gen. Creighton Abrams Jr., deputy commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Marine Lt. Gen. Robert Cushman.

The brigade will undergo orientation training, then join the Americal Division in combat. They had trained since early this year in the thick vegetation of Koolau Mountain, on the Hawaiian island of Oahu.

There was speculation that President Johnson would return home via Vietnam for a brief pre-Christmas visit to the troops, but this was neither confirmed nor denied.

Prime Minister Wilson was being accompanied to Australia by 19-year-old Prince Charles, designated by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, to represent her at the service. It was the first such assignment for the heir to the throne, who spent a term at an Australian school last year.

Police said the search for Holt's body would continue off Portsea, 37 miles south of Melbourne, for at least eight more days, although there has been speculation that it would never be found because of the strong currents. Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — For an industry with a long-range future assured by rising population and incomes, housing seems to be unusually beset by short-term problems.

It is, in fact, America's problem industry, and not entirely through its own fault. Last year tight money forced the industry as close to a depression as it has experienced in the past 20 years. The number of houses on which work was begun fell to the lowest level since World War II despite population increases.

The recovery has been steady since last year's low annual rate of 848,000 private housing starts. Money has again become plentiful and contractors have reassembled crews and are back to work.

The latest figures on housing, released this week, seem to indicate a healthy giant, and maybe it is. Housing starts in November rose for the fifth straight month, reaching an annual rate of 1,556,000 units, nearly 72 per cent higher than the 1966 low.

But, coincidental with these figures are some less encouraging symptoms: mortgage interest has now risen to its highest rate of the year, prices are up and housing permits, which foretell future construction, are lower.

In other words, housing may be headed for trouble once again, with money once more the disease in a body that otherwise might be in roaring good health.

This is what new home purchasers were offered in October: interest rate, 6.52 per cent; length of loan, 24.4 years; loan to purchase price ratio, 74 per cent; and purchase price, $27,500.

These are averages from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and include rather wide-differing rates for savings and loan associations, life insurance companies, mortgage companies and commercial and mutual savings banks. But, as averages, they still tell a story.

Average interest rates actually were lower in October than a year earlier, but a steady increase for several weeks accelerated in November, and rates now are near last year's high. In addition, home prices have risen $1,800 in one year.

Partially offsetting these costlier factors are steadily rising incomes for most families, more jobs and less unemployment. Few analysts believe, however, that these financial pluses offset the higher costs of buying a home.

The most disturbing aspect of the present situation is that the demand for housing is building up powerfully and, if mortgages were available at more reasonable rates, would amount to a boom.

The biggest demand, potentially, is from the large number of persons born immediately after World War II. Another source of demand is from the great number of families which last year postponed purchases.

As a result, vacancy rates are now at their lowest of the 1960s, a fact that can be established in many areas of the country simply by checking the number of units vacant in any large apartment house.

Because of this potential demand, many economists foresee a market of two million homes a year by the early 1970s.

Flu

In Michigan Asian flu was reported reaching near epidemic proportions in the southeastern corner of the state—the populous Detroit area—after soaring close to epidemic levels in the rest of lower Michigan, state health authorities reported.

Several thousand school children in scattered parts of the state were out of class because of the ailment and schools in some sections of the state closed indefinitely because of flu outbreaks.

Officials said, however, that the end of the outbreak was expected soon. It began several weeks ago at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, where, officials said, several thousand students missed classes because of illness due to Asian flu virus.

Alabama Health Officer Ira L. Myers, said his state was in the throes of an influenza epidemic, with 2,761 cases of influenza and 10,418 cases of influenza-like respiratory disease this week.

Dr. R. H. Hutcheson, Tennessee commissioner of public health, described the flu situation in hardest-hit Nashville and Knoxville as a "good-size epidemic. But it's just what we've been expecting since July."

In Culpeper County, Va., schools closed for Christmas vacation Tuesday—two days early—after 11 per cent of the teachers and 657 of 4,000 students were absent with flu. Dr. R. S. Legarde, county health officer, labeled the outbreak an "epidemic of viral respiratory diseases."

Last week, the Oklahoma State Health Department described the Asian flu outbreak in the northeast city of Bartlesville as the worst in the nation.

Dr. LeRoy Carpenter, director of the Epidemiology Division, said the State Health Department was taking blood tests of suspected cases in other cities "just to make sure we know about an outbreak as quickly as possible."

In Bergen County, N.J., medical authorities said Tuesday there appeared to be a minor epidemic of Asian flu. Absenteeism in the northern New Jersey county's 16 schools ranged from 10 to 35 per cent.

"The state is full of something," said Dr. Arnold M. Reeve, of the Iowa State Health Department. Though tests to pin down the bug have not been completed, he said it looked like a virus other than influenza.

An influenza-like virus running through the Washington, D.C., area raised the absentee rate in some schools to nearly 30 per cent and cut the staffs of some federal agencies. The Department of Agriculture reported Monday that the number of visits to its health unit hit a peak.

In Maryland, a suspected influenza outbreak in Allegheny County brought the absentee rate at Allegheny High School to a peak of 35 per cent last Friday.

The high school in Hot Springs, Ark., closed for two days last week after 292 of the 464 students were absent with what State Health Department officials described as an outbreak of mild respiratory illness.

Large-scale flu infections and respiratory illness brought early Christmas vacations to some elementary and high school youngsters in McCook, Neb.; Barnwell, Calhoun and Horry Counties, S.C.; and Madison County and Royston, Ga.

College students at Peru State College in Nebraska and Sullivan County Community College in Fallsburg, N.Y., were also sent home with earlier-than-usual holiday vacations after widespread outbreaks of respiratory infections.

In Louisiana, Minnesota, the New York metropolitan area, Atlanta, northeast Georgia and Dade County, Fla., respiratory ailments were also reported on the upswing.

As for business, Dr. Joseph Bistowish, director of the Nashville (Tenn.) Health Department, said many firms had been hurt by absenteeism. "In fact, we've had quite a few missing from our offices at the health department because of the flu," covered in his consultations. He did say, however, that he stood by previously expressed views that the United Nations has a basic responsibility in the Vietnam conflict.

He said he saw no great significance in the recent request of the Viet Cong to have its political program circulated to U.N. members as an official document.

Much of the questioning was on the Vietnamese question, although Goldberg called the conference to deal primarily with the work of the 22nd General Assembly which recessed early today.

Asked about reports that he planned to quit his U.N. post, Goldberg answered: "I have not submitted my resignation."

Bar Secret Government Aid For Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials maintain federal agencies will follow new guidelines barring secret government backing of university research abroad even though non-enforcement machinery has been provided.

The department's 14-point guidelines published Tuesday specify: "The fact of government research support should always be acknowledged by sponsor, university, and researcher."

In short, a U.S. government financial grant for studies undertaken at a foreign college or university would be made public by the government as well as the university.

But State Department officials acknowledge that while many federal agencies dealing in overseas research projects have adopted the guidelines, there's no existing way to force compliance from any agency that desires to keep secret its connection to such projects.

Neither do the guidelines legally or administratively bind the State Department's Foreign Affairs Research Council, set up to oversee granting of research contracts following a 1965 uproar over a secret Chile project.

The 1965 incident resulted from disclosure that the Army had had researchers in Chile to study potentially disruptive social and political factors. Some critics contended it appeared the Department of the Army was attempting to mount a counter-insurgency effort in the Latin American nation.

Said the new department recommendations: "Covert support to institutions of higher education is contrary to national policy, on the broad and vital principle that it runs contrary to the spirit of our institutions, and on the pragmatic basis that it may reduce the reliability and credibility of the research project's conclusions and eventually result in damage to the reputation of our scholarly community."

Christmas

American Civil Liberties Union advised school officials throughout the state that Christmas pageants with a religious content are unconstitutional and should be avoided. Reaction in general was outraged. Said Sheriff Leigh Wilson of Brevard County: "If I am handed a warrant to arrest some teacher, somebody else will have to serve it—I won't."

In Eugene, Ore., defenders of the Constitution obtained a court order forbidding the city to light up a 40-foot cross which is erected each year in a municipal park. City officials turned on the lights and appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The New Mexico branch of the Civil Liberties Union wrote the State Department of Education objecting to Christmas religious programs in the schools. The department sent copies of the union's letter to all school superintendents with no recommendation one way or the other.

But in the same envelopes went copies of a rebuff by Albuquerque school officials saying that the observance of Christmas is as much cultural as religious and that they intended to continue it.

In East Paterson, N.J., Mrs. Shirley Friedman stood up at a school board meeting and objected to paintings of Christ and other biblical figures on windows and doors of the Memorial Junior-Senior High School.

The 10 board members walked out of the school, where they were meeting, looked at the decorations, walked back in and went on to the next order of business without taking any action on the protest.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made a slight jog to the upside late this afternoon, emerging somewhat from the welter of year-end tax transactions. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 125 issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 2.60 to 883.96. Computer stocks emerged from recent selling pressures, Control Data spurring 5 points.

Among other active issues, Global Marine rose more than 3. Bunker Hill 2, Lone Star Gas about 2, Union Carbide and Cudahy a point or so each.

RCA topped the list on volume as it edged higher.

IBM recouped 3 points or so and other computer stocks did well.

Homestake, off 2, continued reacting along with other gold mining stocks to the determination to defend the dollar in foreign exchange.

Gains of a point or so were scored by Goodyear, General Dynamics, Raytheon, Sperry Rand, U.S. Smelting. American Stock Exchange prices remained generally higher in active trading.

The Dawdler Digs Dad

By BETTY CANARY
How does a dawdler do it? Slow down, that is, to exactly the point which guarantees a parent's blowing up?

Never would I infer such a child brings a parent to this stage with malice aforethought. No, I believe there must be some sort of timer pulsing away inside him.

Vaguely, I can remember something a teacher tried to show me about heat in an electric wire, and ratio was the word. One thing he emblazoned on my brain was wattage equals volts times amps. Then there was, "Temperature increases as the wattage increases." All this to help me understand what makes an iron heat up.

If only I had mastered this, I am sure a theory of mine would really make it with parents of dawdlers. I believe there is some sort of inverse ratio at work here. As the dawdler's wattage goes down, the parent's temperature goes up.

From the time father first calls cheerfully, "Time for bed, son!" to the moment, 45 minutes later, when he is, although still snarlingly in control, belching, "Tomorrow night you start an hour earlier!" the child's wattage is decreasing.

Some would say the child is engaging in some first-class torture, especially when he meets a parent's rage with sweet reason.

When, at 10 o'clock, he suddenly remembers his history assignment, he explains, calmly, that he forgot it and he knows you want him to keep up the old grades. What he leaves UNSAID is that he knows you don't dare tell him he should not forget. Because, what he has not forgotten is your lost raincoat and those two trips mother made to your office with your briefcase last month.

His answer to the inevitable, "What are you doing NOW?" is, "Brushing my teeth." His tone infers you want his teeth to rot, which is stupid because you have spent all that money in braces. Others say the dawdling child is resisting parental authority. "Ignore him," those experts say. This newspaper will not print what parents say to such experts.

We must consider that the child wants to hear a father's anguished cries, just to know he is there and caring. Oh, I just remembered another formula. "Resistance is measured in ohms." I wonder if that word should be "groans"?

In Hollywood

By GENE HANDSAKER

Associated Press Writer
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Mouse whammed a 10-foot-high bass drum as Cinderella rode in an enormous pumpkin coach. In a special, one-night-only prelude, Gregory Peck read the scripture—"Unto you is born a savior"—and 800 chorists sang of joy to the world.

Thus Christmas arrived last Saturday night at Disneyland in a light rain defied by participants and hundreds of spectators. And the late, shrewd showman-founder, Walt Disney, would have been delighted at this third annual edition of his $500,000 creation, "Fantasy on Parade."

The twice-a-day, Christmas-season pageant, starring 40 years of dancing Disney characters from little pigs to Mary Poppins, is only a segment of kaleidoscopic special attractions that keep customers coming back all year.

"Disneyland is a show, and you can't run the same show year in and year out," says marketing director Jack Lindquist, one of the bright young lieutenants who carry on the Disney tradition.

During Easter vacation there are special stage shows and parades. June brings 11 p.m.-to-5 a.m. graduation parties—seven nights of them this year with a total attendance of 75,000 youngsters bussed directly from high school auditoriums, some with diplomas still in hand.

Big companies and unions book the whole park for private parties on Friday and Saturday nights from September through May. The cost—from a minimum $22,500 for 6,000 people to $51,000 for 16,000 usually is shared by company and employees. For the first time, all weekend nights this season already are taken.

New Year's Eve at liquorless Disneyland has been sold out in advance the past three years. The crowds, at $9 per head, are 60 per cent under 21 and include family groups. Inducements this time: "Hats, noisemakers, eight great bands, unlimited use of all attractions, surprise midnight spectacular."

Disney staffers polled departing customers last month, asking: "Have you ever visited Disneyland before?" Nearly 60 per cent said yes. Among Southern Californians the percentage was 78.6.

Attendance for the park's fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was 7.9 million, up from the previous year's record 6.7 million. Estimated gross income this year: $51 million; last year's record, $41 million.

LITERBERRY AID CHRISTMAS PARTY AT MALLICOATS

The Christmas meeting for members of the Literberry Baptist Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Mallicoat with Mrs. Verne Thomas and Mrs. Edward Brainer assisting.

The song, Joy to the World, opened the meeting and Mrs. Joe DeGroot offered devotions, reading the Christmas story from the scriptures and closing with prayer.

Sixteen answered roll with a childhood memory. The president, Mrs. Glenn Walbert, appointed these committees:

Nominating, Mrs. Robert Daniel, Mrs. Raymond Roach and Mrs. Marvin Sorrell; program, Mrs. Alvin Ginder, Mrs. Ralph Ginder and Mrs. Merrill Masten.

Mrs. Edward Charlesworth was program chairman and her topic was Truthfulness, Love and Peace. Two contests were conducted and were won by Mrs. William J. Boston and Mrs. C. H. Mallicoat. The meeting closed with benediction and a gift exchange was enjoyed.

Mrs. Rex Kelly and several children were guests. The hostesses served date supreme with caramel sauce and whipped cream topping, nutmeats, mints and coffee.

Hostesses for the January meeting are Mrs. Marvin Sorrell and Mrs. Warren Daniels.

ROODHOUSE OES HONORS MEMBERS AT NURSING HOME

ROODHOUSE — A noonday potluck luncheon was held Dec. 15 in the Masonic Hall, by the Past Matrons Club of the OES. Serving on the committee were Mrs. Orval Kennedy, Mrs. Ralph Benner, Mrs. Vincent Reager, Mrs. William Wagner, Mrs. George Duncan.

Mrs. Benner, president, conducted the business meeting. Mrs. A. W. Keyes drove to White Hall to take a luncheon plate to each of two members of the OES, now residents of the Hilltop Rest Haven near White Hall. The two are Mrs. L. E. Close, a longtime treasurer of OES before her illness, and Mrs. Lee Smith, a past matron of OES. Two other members, Miss Nellie Sawyer, a patient at Passavant hospital, currently secretary of OES, and an honorary member of the club, and Mrs. Harvey Hull, past matron, who is now a patient at Holy Cross hospital, will also be honored.

A gift exchange was held during the afternoon.

White Hall Homemakers Have Party

WHITE HALL — The Day Unit of the White Hall Greene County Homemaker's Extension service met at the home of Mrs. Robert Meldrum for a noon luncheon on Thursday, December 14. No regular meeting was held, but Mrs. John Neece gave a belated lesson. That afternoon a Christmas party was held and the hostess presented each guest with a beautiful handmade apron, which has been her custom for several years.

The night unit of the Extension service met Thursday, December 14 at the home of Miss Margaret Kinison, with Miss Mae Nichols as co-hostess. A turkey potluck supper was served at 6:30 p.m. and the tables were decorated in a Christmas motif.

The fifteen guests sang Christmas carols and played several Christmas games. Mrs. Pauline Walkington received prizes for two of the games and roll call was "What I Want For Christmas."

A gift exchange was held among the members. Miss Avis Nichols won the door prize, and the hostess served ice cream and cake. Mrs. Jack Harp will be hostess for the January meeting.

White Hall News

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Neighbors have returned to their home in Seattle, Wash., having been called here by the death of his mother, Mrs. Lyle Neighbors. Otis I. Neighbors left during the week to spend the holiday with his son, Lyle and wife in Seattle.

Mrs. Helen Piper, has been dismissed to her home following surgery at Passavant hospital.

Mrs. Helen Ralston has returned to her home following medical care at Holy Cross hospital.

Mrs. C. W. McCollister is leaving this week for an extended visit with relatives in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Varble of Indianapolis, Ind. were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Nash.

Mrs. Lee Griswold and her son-in-law, J. L. Guis visited Dr. and Mrs. Richard Jakobi in Seattle, Wash., having been called here by the death of his ANCIENT ARTIFACTS that may date back 3,000 years were discovered when construction workers unearthed an Indian burial ground and garbage dump on California's Tiburon Peninsula. Spear point, left, and shell beads were among items said to relate to similar findings that have been dated by radio-carbon analysis to go as far back as 4,400 years.

DANISH RICE MOLD
1-3rd cup long grain rice
2 1/4 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup sweet sherry
1/2 cup ground blanched almonds
(use medium blade of food chopper)
2 cups heavy cream, whipped
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
In the top of a double boiler mix rice, salt and 2 cups of the milk. Cover and cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally until milk is absorbed and mixture is porridge consistency—about 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Remove from heat; add sugar and mix well. Sprinkle gelatin on remaining 1/4 cup milk to soften; add milk to hot rice mixture, stirring well. Stir in sherry. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly.
Fold in almonds, then whipped cream and almond extract.
Turn into a 6-cup mold. Chill 4 hours or overnight. Makes 8 servings. Unmold and serve with Strawberry Sauce. Recipe for Strawberry Sauce: Slightly thaw a 10-ounce package of frozen strawberry halves or slices; place in electric blender; cover and blend until smooth. Makes about 1 cup.

OFFER GOOD TILL
DECEMBER 21st

With a gas range you cook in cool comfort even on the warmest summer days. Thick blankets of insulation in the oven and broiler keep the heat inside the range—not out in your kitchen. When you turn a burner on, you get instant heat for fast, fast cooking. And, when you turn the burner off, the heat stops instantly—there's no "hangover" heat. And don't forget, gas is still the cheapest way to

Eastern Tumbles MacMurray 91-60

CHARLESTON — A hot-shoot seven minutes to play. From the Eastern quintet ran a quick flurry and put the contest off several second half threats to post a decisive 91-60 decision over MacMurray, here Tuesday evening.

Eastern, now 3-2, ran to a 44-29 margin in the first 17 minutes of the game before MacMurray cut the difference to 50-36 at intermission.

MacMurray rallied back into contention early in the second half and came within 63-53 with

Rams Aiming Are Truly Rare Feat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, who seem to have been doing the impossible in the National Football League all season, aim at another unlikely possibility in Milwaukee Saturday.

That would be to defeat the Green Bay Packers twice in one season. Only three teams have done it since Coach Vince Lombardi took charge of the Packers in 1959.

The last time the Rams achieved such a goal was in the pre-Lombardi year of 1958 when Sid Gillman coached Los Angeles.

The closest since was in 1964 when Harland Searles' Rams won from and tied the Packers.

The Baltimore Colts turned the trick the first year Lombardi was at Green Bay and again in 1964, a year when Green Bay was having troubles and finished 5-5-1.

"Everyone knows that these days it's tough to beat the Packers the second time around," one Ram front office man, Coy Williams, observed.

Los Angeles, of course, won the first time, just two Saturdays ago, in a struggle that still has the fans babbling to themselves.

A blocked punt, a Ram recovery and a Ram touchdown, the latter with 34 seconds remaining, produced a 27-24 victory.

Even Lombardi, whose Packers had already locked up its Central Division title, couldn't remember a loss this late in a game.

The contest coming up is for the Western Conference Championship of the NFL. It is said to predict the Packers will plan to avert such last second heroics—and the Rams would just as soon settle matters with much more breathing room.

The Packer-Ram winner will meet the winner of the Cleveland-Brown-Dallas Cowboy Eastern Division playoff for the NFL championship in either Green Bay or Los Angeles.

At Finish 66-65

NEW BERLIN — John Thorson failed to convert a one-and-one opportunity after the game ended to preserve a 66-65 edge for Viriden over New Berlin in a rough-and-tumble ball game, here Tuesday evening.

Bob Keil had just put Viriden ahead 96-64 with a bucket when Thorson was fouled at the buzzer. He made the first of the bonus situation but missed the second.

Fred Alexander paced Viriden with 22 points, and Dan Smith was high for New Berlin with 22 markers.

Viriden is now 2-5, while the Pretzels are 3-5.

The game saw 60 fouls called, 57 on Viriden and 24 on New Berlin.

SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW: George Webster (left), Houston's rookie from Michigan State, caught on so fast in the AFL he's been named one of NEA's All-Pro linebackers. Lance Alworth, San Diego's six-year veteran, has once again been selected to the All-AFL flanker position.

Bob Hayes Not Having Usual Year

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Bob Hayes, known as the world's fastest human both on the track and football field, isn't having a spectacular year playing split end for the Dallas Cowboys.

In fact, he was left off the all-pro team as a result. He was a shining light there in 1966.

"I am disappointed with my season and disappointed in not making the all-pro team but I haven't reached my goal of 1,000 yards and 13 touchdowns and can understand why," he said.

Hayes has caught 49 passes for 998 yards and 10 touchdowns, which doesn't sound like a disappointing season, especially since it was caused by Dallas taking measures to relieve the pressure on him.

BOB HAYES

This pressure had held him down in the late stages of 1966, but after he had compiled a great record, taking 64 passes for 13 touchdowns.

3. Trouble was that it not only didn't relieve the pressure but failure of the Dallas offense to reach proper stature cut down his chances because they didn't throw to him enough.

The string of injuries that prevented quarterback Don Meredith getting into shape and into an effective rhythm was one of the big reasons.

"They covered me tough this year anyway," he said. "I got double and triple-teamed."

Go to Flanker

This despite the fact that Dallas went more to the flankers in a move to relieve the pressure. But he still could have done better had the offense been up to standard and more passes could have been thrown his way.

But Hayes aims at making up for all of it in the playoff for the Eastern Conference championship of the National Football League against Cleveland here next Sunday. He figures he has a better chance because all of the Cowboys are going to be tired up.

"We know that they are at full strength and a better ball club than at any time this year," said Hayes. "The linebacking will be tougher and the defense better coordinated. The pass rush will be stronger and we know they always have had a great offensive team. Gary Collins is the best pass-receiver in the NFL and Paul Warfield is very good."

"They will be real tough and we'll have to play heads up ball to win. I think we're ready for it and I know I'm going to try to make up for what I consider a disappointing season."

It is said that "how Hayes goes so go the Cowboys." He's the biggest threat to other team's peace of mind whether the scores or not.

That, however, is no condolence to Hayes who thinks he has to get more than 10 touchdowns or it's a disappointing season.

Bradley In Ratings, Tough Times Ahead

The unbeaten Bradley Braves have won seven straight games and gained a ranking position in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll. But they'll have to put up a brave front this week.

The team from Peoria, Ill., faces the leaders in two polls, taking on San Diego State, the pacesetter in the small-college voting, Wednesday night and powerful UCLA, No. 1 among major-colleges, Saturday night. The Bruins, 3-0, this season, have won 37 games in succession over three years.

Bradley, No. 10, and Tennessee, No. 9, are the new teams in the Top Ten released Tuesday in the latest balloting by a national panel of 32 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through Sunday.

UCLA, idle last week, collected 32 first-place votes and 318 points while Houston held second place with two votes for top position and 276 points.

Points were awarded on the usual basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Houston, winner of three games last week for a 7-0 mark, overwhelmed Minnesota 103-65 Monday night. The Cougars take on Arizona Friday and Nevada Southern on Saturday.

Vanderbilt remained in third place with 241 points. The Commodores suffered their first setback of the campaign Monday night, 74-72 to Florida.

North Carolina downed two of last week's ranking teams, Kentucky and Princeton, and advanced three places to fourth.

The defeat dropped Kentucky from fourth to seventh and Princeton out of the first 10.

Indiana zoomed from ninth to fifth after beating Kansas State and North Carolina State. Davidson climbed two places to sixth while Boston College, beaten by St. John's of New York in overtime, slipped from sixth to eighth.

Louisville, No. 5 a week ago, also dropped from the list of rated teams after losing to Dayton.

Plains Staves Off Riverton For 7th Win 64-59

RIVERTON — Once-beaten Pleasant Plains held off a late Riverton surge to count a 64-59 Sangamo Conference decision, here Tuesday evening, in a make-up from an earlier game snowed out.

The winners, now 7-1 overall and 3-0 in the conference standings, led most of the way but never by much. Riverton closed the gap to four points several times in the final period, the final time at 59-55 with two minutes to play.

Allen Boesdorfer, who led the victors with 19 points, hit seven of nine free throws and a bucket in the final chapter.

Plains hit 40 percent to Riverton's 38 percent clip and held a slim 37-33 board advantage.

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — York which virtually racked up Credit Warren Lahr, a former the Century Division title for all-pro defensive back with the Browns. The Browns, lead Cleveland Browns, for unusual perspicacity. In late December drive from mid-field on which Kelly carried the ball four out of five times to get the ball inches from the goal line. On each carry, another back with less agility might have been stopped for no gain. Kelly capped the drive with a slash over right tackle and went over standing up.

Warren Lahr, who now does the color commentary on the Brown telecasts, was not surprised.

Payson Sneaks Past 'Dosh 59-52

PAYSON — The Indians of Payson sneaked by the Indians of Mercedosia, 59-52, in a close game played here Tuesday night.

The game was extremely close up till the last three minutes. Payson started out in the lead, but "Dosh closed to two points at the last break. Bruce Dawson, a leading scorer for the Mercedosia team was called out on fouls at the end of the third stanza.

It was the first time the complete team was able to play this season. Gary Ham being out with an elbow injury. Ham played in this game and added 16 points to the team effort.

Brad Uppinghouse led scoring in the game with 18 points. Wynn Higgenbottom and Bob Kaufman each adding 11 to the winners' tally.

Payson is unbeaten in five games, Mercedosia has not won after six attempts.

TO RENOVATE WRIGLEY FIELD

CHICAGO (AP) — A $500,000 renovation program in 1968 for Wrigley Field was announced Tuesday by the Chicago Cubs.

The main work will be removal and replacement of 1,500 square feet of the left field upper deck. The 1,265 seats there will be replaced by contoured grandstand seats.

No Regional

Sectional Slated For Jacksonville

Jacksonville High School will not have a regional tournament for the first time since 1955, according to the IJHS announcement of centers for the district, regional, sectional and state final basketball tournaments, released Tuesday morning.

Jacksonville will host a sectional tournament after a one-year absence, but the teams coming here will be changed, in one of many changes in sites around the state.

Area teams assigned regional tournaments are Beardstown, Havana, Jerseyville, Carthage, Lewistown and Springfield Southeast.

Regional winners from Beardstown, Carthage, Jerseyville and Quincy will advance to the Jacksonville Sectional. The Springfield regional winner, normally in either the Jacksonville or Springfield sectional, will advance to the Springfield Lanphier sectional, along with regional winners from Decatur, Lincoln and Pana.

ST HONORS YAZ

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, whose bat helped the Boston Red Sox win the American League baseball pennant, was named Sportsman of the Year Tuesday by Sports Illustrated.

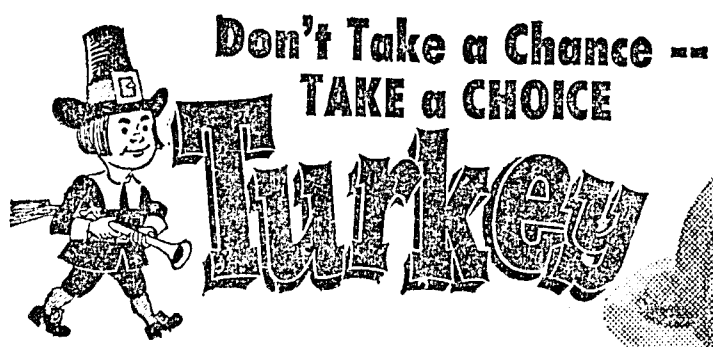

The magazine cited two other outstanding performances for 1967—those of O.J. Simpson, football star of Southern California's Rose Bowl team, and Catherine Lacoste of France, winner of the U.S. Women's Open Golf title.

Boris Raymond of New York did not have the time to play in many national tournaments, but in the metropolitan area he was known as one of our very best players. The Eastern Open Pairs is just another Regional today but it is the oldest contract tournament, and the list of winners includes most of the great oldtimers as well as many of the younger generation.

When Oswald Jacoby won it for the fourth time in 1954, it was thought that this record would stand up, but Boris, who who had not played in it till then, tied that record when he won it four times, including 1966 and 1967. His untimely death last month undoubtedly stopped him from winning it again since Boris seemed to be almost unbeatable in this event.

Boris had a distinct bidding style that wouldn't have been at all popular in the West because he liked to pass pretty big hands and back in later, but no one could find any fault with his technique of dummy play and defense.

Boris held the East cards in today's hand. He had no problems in the bidding and his play of the diamond seven at trick one was automatic.

South had no problems in the early play. He went right up with dummy's ace of diamonds, drew trumps with three leads and ran off the heart suit in order to discard two diamonds and a club from his own hand.

Boris did not have any discarding problem, but he did a little counting while South was running the heart suit. South had five heart tricks, four spades of his own, plus the fourth spade in dummy to ruff a club with. The ace of diamonds gave him an eleventh trick. South needed a club to make his contract, so, when eventually South led the jack of clubs from dummy, Boris played a low club.

South finally had a problem and guessed wrong. He played low. West made his queen and the contract was beaten.

SNOW JOB

for the winter driver can be a very serious matter—even of life or death. Light reflected from snow, dirty windshields and other highway hazards accompanying winter add extra hazard to driving. The smart driver can play it cool and safe by following a few tips compiled by the Society for Visual Care.

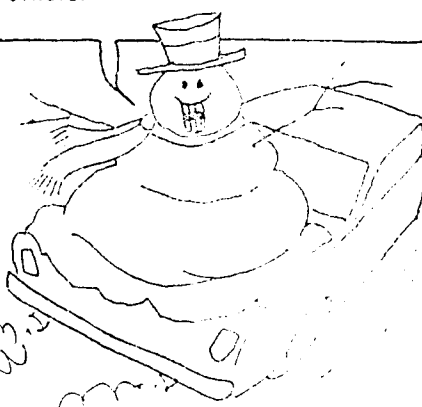

Drive with extra caution in snow because the glare scatters light, leading to visual difficulties, eye discomfort and accident situations.

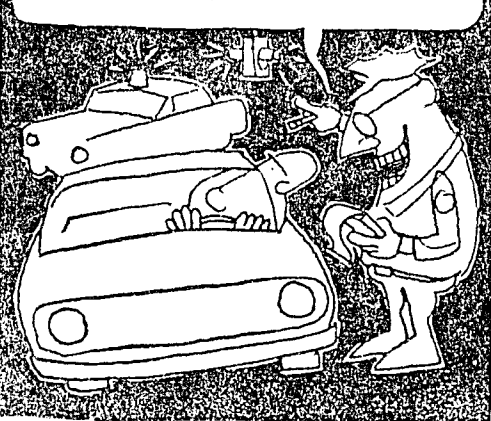

Keep an extra pair of sunglasses in the glove compartment at all times in case one pair is lost, broken or forgotten.

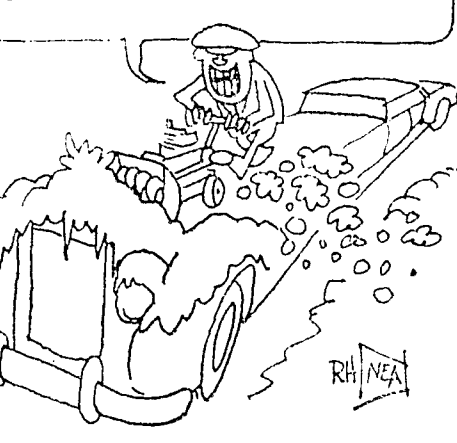

Wipe snow off the trunk, for consideration of drivers behind you. Don't pass on your snow glare to others.

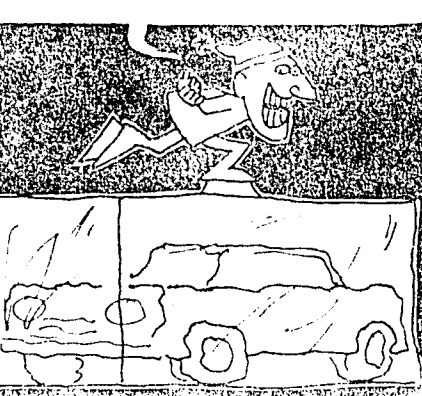

Wear sunglasses, gray preferred. Green is bad because it cuts full vision by distorting the red end of the light spectrum.

Wipe the car hood clean of snow before starting out to eliminate glare threat.

Wipe the entire windshield free of snow; remove caked ice with de-icing fluids or by letting the motor run. All windows should be wiped free for best vision.

Sue Wilson Shower Honoree At Meredosia

MEREDOSIA—Miss Sue Wilson of Jacksonville, who will become the bride of Donald Schlieker on Saturday, December 23rd at Grace Methodist church, was guest of honor at a bridal shower December 10th at St. John's Lutheran Parish hall in Meredosia. Mrs. Harold Schroeder and Miss Betty Schroeder were hostesses. A pink and white bride centered the gift table and the serving table was decorated

Popular Senator To Retire After Forty Years

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., who never lost an election, said Tuesday his 40th year in public office will be his last.

Carlson who will be 75 next month, said he won't seek reelection in 1968 and will return to live as a private citizen in Kansas, where he operated a farm until his election to the Kansas House in 1928.

His decision opened for office-seekers in Kansas political doors leading to the Senate, one or more seats in Congress, possibly the governorship and other lesser offices.

"I think now is the time for this senator to yield," Carlson said in announcing he will retire at the end of his present term.

Carlson, the son of Swedish immigrants, said at a breakfast meeting his career in public office was the realization of "the American Dream."

He served in the Kansas House for two terms, the U.S. House of Representatives for six terms, nearly two terms as governor and is serving his third regular term in the Senate. He also served part of an unexpired term.

Kansans elected him to public office 13 times by margins ranging from 1,647 votes to 137,683 votes.

Dodge, the United States Defense Department spacecraft, was the most sophisticated of the 250 American satellites in orbit as of November 1967. Dodge carries spare parts and can repair itself electronically.

with poinsettias and Christmas candles. Refreshments of strawberry whip, mints, coffee, and tea were served.

Games were played with prizes going to Miss Janet Williams, Mrs. James King and Mrs. Charles Wegehoff.

Those attending were: the honoree and Mrs. Ivarene Wilson, Mrs. Martha Ridgeway, Miss Mirrie Schroeder, Mrs. Meier, Mrs. Edna Telling, Mrs. Verla Lovekamp and Mrs. Darline Jording, all of Jacksonville, Berghaus, Mrs. Charles Wegehoff, Mrs. Elta Russwinkel and Mrs. Edwin Ommen and Kindschuch of Axtell, Nebraska.

Mini Dolls For Maxi Christmas

By AP NEWSFEATURES
Hello, dolly. You look just as good mini-size—as little girls will find out Christmas morning.

Doll land has gone mini and even Raggedy Ann has a mini counterpart right down to her striped stockings. But Santa's doll lineup will include some statuesque blondes and brunettes too.

There are school age mini-dolls with a new fashion look sporting the very newest vinyl coats. Garboesque rain hats and high boots. Teenie dolls are wearing their bangs in a side sweep and sport long flowing locks that tie in back.

Mini baby dolls include the teenie and tiny babies who feed and coo just like the life-size baby dolls. The almost human characteristics of baby dolls this year have been achieved by the addition of shredded vinyl to strategic spots in doll bodies.

There are eight-inch dolls in Victorian garb dressed like Beth, Amy, Meg, and Joe, of Little Women fame. A bend-em doll incorporates wire under the skin, providing dolly with lots of flexibility for the pull-em, squeeze-em age group.

And, of course, there are dolls who perform electronic tricks. One number features a crawler who travels along the floor when her Mom presses the button on her pocketbook.

While dolls have gone mini, cuddly animals have gone maxi, even though some wear mini shifts. There is a 32-inch mouse in a checkerboard patterned shift and heeled boots and there's a mod version of Cheeta with bold eye makeup. One gingerbread boy and girl measure two and one half feet in cocoa-colored non-allergic plush bodies.

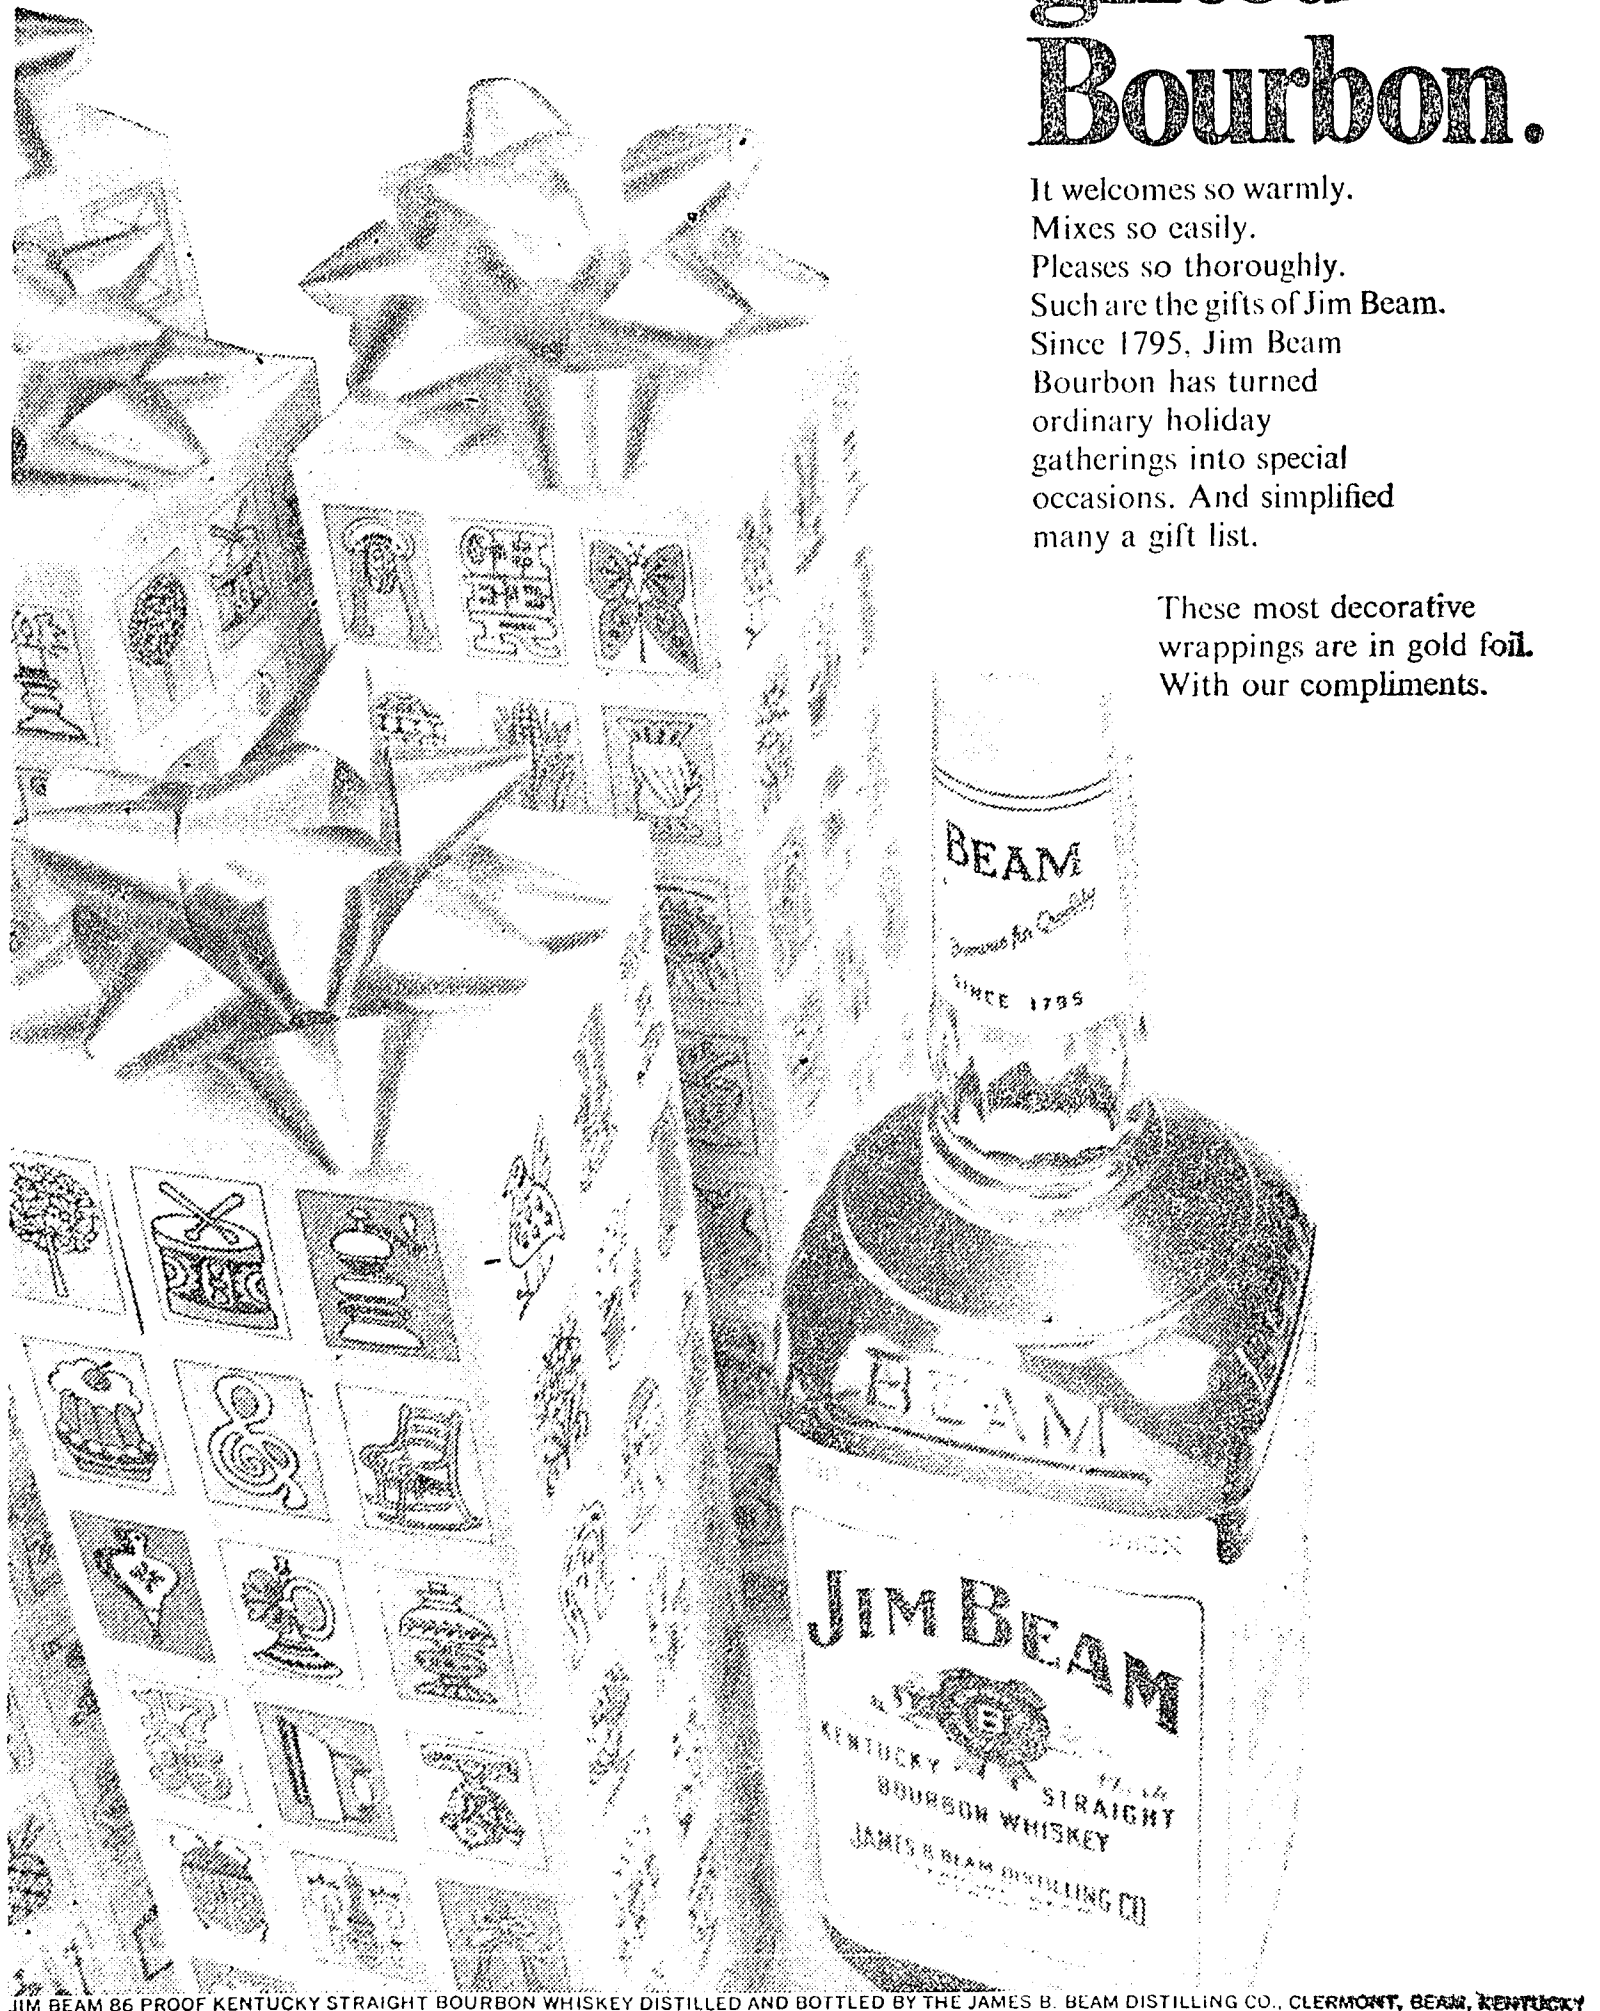

HUNGARIAN CALORIE COUNT

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarians are eating well, the news agency MTI reported. The 3,063 calories per day per person average gave Hungary ninth place honors among all nations. Hungary consumed more calories than Austria, Sweden, Italy and West Germany.

'Socialist Realism' Guides Russian Art

By MICHAEL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Paintings of smiling workers still dominate Soviet art, but imagination is creeping into this and other tired old themes of "Socialist realism."

An extensive new exhibit just off Red Square reveals the latest creations of the controlled Soviet painters and sculptors.

They still work within the framework of Socialist realism, but despite that conservative harness they have produced some beautiful works.

The Soviet view of art, and its corresponding discrimination against artists who disagree with it, permits crude, cartoon-like works to slip into exhibitions simply because they qualify as a positive comment on Socialist society. Hence, the standards of any free artistic community, about 30 per cent of the works in the exhibit strike art.

Art for art's sake is not against the law, but it is not encouraged and it is not displayed publicly. Abstract works are taboo. Still, the good Soviet artists stretch realism to its limits and would be out of place in Paris or New York.

The crucifixion painted by an Armenian artist, S. S. Cafarian, has an imaginative quality almost jolting to viewers who expected only the orthodox at the exhibit.

One artist planted his girl friend in the exhibition hall to watch the reaction to his sculpture.

"He wants to know how successful it is—especially among the foreigners," she said to an American visitor. "Tell me why you like it."

"Because it doesn't look like Socialist realism," she was told, and she was immensely pleased.

Vladimir I. Lenin, founder of the Soviet state, is everywhere in the exhibit, frowning, pointing, orating, thinking.

On the streets of Moscow as well as in the exhibition halls, Lenin is ubiquitous. Every statue of him is a copy of another, and in Moscow two expression- singularly lacking in artistic charm, Lenin stands, like Jesus in a Christian society, inspiring the people. His purpose is moral, not artistic.

The Soviet commitment to Socialist realism is very real, indeed, and there is no sign of a retreat despite ridicule from the art capitals of the world.

Minister of Culture Yekaterina Furtseva is perhaps the Soviet Union's most fiery defender of this commitment.

"Please respect us," she said recently, addressing foreign newsmen who had asked about Soviet art.

"You like your system," she continued. "Live as you like. But we must have mutual respect."

"Never before in the history of the world," she said, "have the people been in such close touch with the intelligentsia."

One Russian impressionist painter, who ekes out a living decorating store windows, commented bitterly on Mrs. Furtseva's statement.

"She is not my boss," said the bearded, middle-aged artist. "Gozman is my boss."

While an active underground exists, and occasionally surfaces, the state easily can and does clamp down on efforts to show nonrealistic works. A year ago in Moscow two expressionist and abstract exhibitions

U.N. Affirms Space Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly, nearing the end of its 22nd annual session, endorsed Tuesday a treaty providing for prompt rescue and safe passage of astronauts who land in foreign countries.

The Assembly also laid groundwork for a resumed 123-nation session on disarmament next spring.

The assembly had afternoon and night meetings scheduled on anticolonial, administrative and budgetary items with the goal of adjourning the three-month session before midnight.

The treaty says astronauts who come down in foreign countries "shall be safely and promptly returned to representatives of the launching authority" and spacecraft that do so "shall be returned or held at the disposal" of such representatives.

The treaty will take effect when ratified by the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and any two other countries.

The assembly unanimously adopted a resolution asking all governments to sign and ratify it "as soon as possible."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg called that a "historic action." Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko termed it a "humanitarian act of the international community."

The resolution was sponsored by 16 countries, including the two big powers, which finished the treaty last week and guided it through the U.N. Outer Space Committee.

At a morning meeting, the assembly also paved the way for resuming the present session in late March or early April in hope that by then it could hail completion of a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.

It adopted a resolution that asked the Geneva Disarmament Committee to report back by March 15 on pending negotiations for such a treaty and specified that U.N. members then should consult on setting up a resumed assembly session on the report.

The vote was 112 to 1 with 4 abstentions. Albania voted no.

The assembly approved a resolution calling a Geneva conference of nonnuclear countries for next August and September. That vote was 110 to 0 with 8 abstentions.

Other resolutions adopted ask the Geneva committee to continue negotiations for general disarmament, a ban on underground nuclear tests and elimination of foreign military bases. All went through without a negative vote except the one on tests, opposed by Albania as a friend of Red China.

Discuss Vietnam

Romney Meets Premier Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan met Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin for two hours and 10 minutes Tuesday and they talked about subjects ranging from the war in Vietnam to U.S.-Soviet relations.

Romney called it "a very interesting conversation."

The candidate for the Republican nomination for president declined to go into details of his conversation with Kosygin on this second and last day of his visit to Moscow on a world tour. The two met in Kosygin's study.

When Romney arrived at the premier's office, he walked straight up to Kosygin, shook his hand, and said, "I'm very pleased to meet you, sir. We've heard a lot about you."

At this point two Western reporters who had followed the Romney party into the Kremlin were ushered out.

When Romney left more than two hours later, he told reporters waiting for him that he had "adhered to the policy I announced before I left the United States. That is to listen mostly and let them talk."

At his hotel near the Kremlin later, Romney told reporters that Kosygin was "generous with his time and views" in their conversation, which covered "subjects of mutual concern."

The governor said he was "grateful for the opportunity" to talk with Kosygin. A discussion that "produces greater understanding of the position of others is always useful," he added.

Romney's remarks were in the form of a statement he read to reporters.

"The chairman (Kosygin) has been generous with his time and views consistent with my purpose on this trip of securing directly viewpoints on subjects of mutual concern," the statement said. "I am grateful for the opportunity to talk with him."

"We have had a very interesting conversation, covering such subjects as Vietnam, arms control, Soviet-American relations and the Middle East. A discussion which produces greater understanding of the positions of others is always useful."

"My visit to Russia has been beneficial. Riding the train through the countryside, visiting areas of cultural and historical interest in Moscow, conferring with leaders and key citizens and meeting with American university students studying here has given me a perspective unattainable in any other way."

Then, answering questions, Romney said: "I have no other comment."

Asked if he would meet any other leaders besides Kosygin, the governor replied: "I have no plans."

The meeting was believed the first one Kosygin has held in the Kremlin with a visiting American political figure since he met with U.S. Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana Nov. 19, 1965.

District 117 Advances Funds For Four Rivers

Members of the Board of Education of School District 117, Tuesday evening, reluctantly approved a resolution advancing $20,000 from the education fund to the Four Rivers Special Education District.

District 117 and eight other counties in the area make up the Four Rivers district which serves as the special education arm of the entire area.

The Jacksonville district is the administrative district for the nine-county combine and, as such, is obligated to fund the program in its initial stages.

The money will be returned on or before Dec. 19, 1968, from assessments on the member districts and from state funds.

Four Rivers was initially planned as an overall program to provide special education for a large segment of population at a reasonable cost. At least the cost is expected to be far less than duplicating staff and program in each of the nine member districts.

Several District 117 board members were reluctant to approve the resolution on the basis that it may or may not draw interest chargeable as an operational cost of the program. District 117 would pay its pro-rata share of the cost, if any.

Jacksonville high school's basketball team is scheduled for entry in the Centria Holiday tournament, Dec. 27-29, this year. With board approval, the Crimson will take their own cheering section along. The variety cheerleaders will also journey to Centria under the guidance of Miss Marjorie Howard. Members of the board voted to approve the measure as a school-sponsored program.

Teacher recruitment plans are being developed by District 117 so that representatives of the school will visit sixteen college campuses in Illinois, Missouri and Indiana during the next few months.

Total estimated cost to District 117 for students enrolled at junior colleges throughout the state amounts to $1,644. Nine students are currently enrolled in approved educational institutions.

November's profit and loss statement for the cafeteria operation was very close. It cost about $30,000 to serve approximately 3,100 meals daily and the program lost $22. Profit on the cafeteria operation for the first three months is slightly more than $4,000.

Tuesday's meeting was the last regular meeting of the year. The next regular meeting was set for Jan. 16.

Conscription, enforced service in the military, was exercised from the earliest days of history and was customary in Greece and Rome. However, the first modern national law of conscription was adopted in the French Revolution.

Winchester Group Has Holiday Party

By Naomi Lawson
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Woman's Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. R. R. Funk for a party held in the Funk recreation room.

A desert course of blueberry and apple turnovers, potato chips, cheese curls, nuts and coffee was served.

The president, Mrs. Earle Black, presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. Carl Woodcock presented the secretary's report and Miss Ruth Reeder gave the treasurer's report. A note from Reverend Hays Wiltshire thanked the club for their donation to the Boy Scouts.

There were 30 members and one guest, Mrs. Leola Mann, present.

The program chairman, Mrs. Harry Montgomery, read interesting parts from the "The Bird's Christmas Carol" by Kate Douglas Wiggin, and from "Welcome Christmas Thoughts" by Charles Dickens.

The group sang Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Funk. A word contest was won by Mrs. Julia Kinison.

A discussion on what Christmas means to different people was held. The program closed with Miss Mary Margaret Kinison reading a Christmas prayer.

A moment of silent meditation for all servicemen, especially those who have given their lives for the nation was observed.

Santa Claus' arrival was followed by a gift exchange.

The hostesses were Mrs. Allen McCullough Sr., Mrs. Edward Wild, Mrs. Loretta Glossop, Mrs. Louis Hieronymous, Mrs. Paul Stehman and Mrs. Charles Shipley.

The January meeting will be at the Baptist Church. The program will be presented by Mrs. Alva Stainforth, Jacksonville. Mrs. Hays Wiltshire will be in charge of the music.

Plan Program

The Assembly of God Church program will be given at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the church.

Children and young adults have prepared recitations and musical numbers.

Mrs. Lee Witmer is the program chairman.

Men To Meet

The Baptist Men's Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at the church.

The program chairman is Al Watt, Ben Pokrowski and Richard Blackburn are his assistants.

Marriage Licenses

The following marriage licenses have been issued at the Scott County courthouse:

Walter Richard Scoggins, Winchester and Linda Sue Hanel, both of rural Winchester.

Neil Jared Mueller and Connie Jo Nunes both of Bluffs.

William Roger Teeney and Carol Sue Hoots, both of rural Winchester.

Personals

Miss Frances Crabtree is spending a vacation in Los Angeles with friends.

Mrs. F. H. Balke and Frieda and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lawless and Alice visited Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Westermeyer Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Daryle Summers of Mercedia visited his mother, Mrs. Howard Summers, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson Grey and family, Mrs. James McCabe and Leo Brown visited Mr. and Mrs. Ed Prenger and family in Quincy Sunday.

Miss Alice Lawless, who is student at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lawless and other relatives.

Mrs. Ivan Dunn and sons of Jacksonville visited last weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. Howard Summers. Mrs. Dunn expects to move to Wichita Falls, Texas, where her husband is employed.

INQUEST JURY RETURNS VERDICT

An inquest jury Tuesday evening returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Charles E. Henderson, 64, of 221½ North Sandy who died at Holy Cross hospital Dec. 1, three days after suffering minor burns to the face and neck in a fire at his apartment.

Henderson was believed to have been smoking in bed, according to testimony presented at the inquest. Coroner John B. Martin said the medical cause of death was not directly related to the fire but that Henderson was rushed to the hospital and remained in the intensive care unit until the time of his death.

Members of the jury ruled the death accidental. Jury members were: Dale W. Bond, foreman; Charles Roach, Mabel Brown, Thelma Koonce, Clarence McNeece and Merna J. Lyons.

Diet Pill Probe Led By Sen. Hart

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigation was announced Tuesday into the diet pill industry where, Sen. Phillip A. Hart said, a patient's health and purse can often be reduced as rapidly as his weight.

Hart, a Michigan Democrat who is chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee, said in a statement that a six-month staff inquiry has turned up strong indications that:

—Drug suppliers specializing in diet pills recruit doctors into the weight-reducing field as an implement manufacturer might seek dealers, sometimes promising physicians yearly incomes of $100,000 to $300,000.

—Mass production handling of patients by many obesity specialists precludes the kind of careful medical attention essential to safe use of diet drugs.

No date was set for the start of hearings, but Hart said he hopes to get them under way early in the new year.

Hart's announcement of public hearings on the diet pill industry was made as a Senate small business subcommittee under the chairmanship of Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., continued its probe of pricing practices by prescription drug manufacturers.

Nelson said a 29-city survey conducted by his office showed "widespread and shocking price differences paid by public agencies, with taxpayers' funds, for prescription drugs."

"The obvious conclusion to be drawn," he said, "is that the price charged to public agencies is whatever the traffic will bear in each particular instance."

The most extreme example cited by Nelson was a spread of 11,655 per cent between the price paid by Grand Rapids, Mich., and Cook County, Chicago for reserpine tablets. He said that while Grand Rapids was paying $160 for 5,000 tablets, the price paid by Chicago was $2.09.

"Grand Rapids was buying on a trade name basis," Nelson said, "while Cook county's order was for a generic product supplied by a generic house."

Another example he cited involved sulfate tablets. Nelson said that while Des Moines and Newark were paying $22.60 for this drug on a trade name basis, the city of Los Angeles was buying the drug generically for 53 cents, a differential of 4,264 per cent.

Johnson Speaks On Vietnam Congress, And The Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson offered Tuesday night a five point plan he said might be useful in ending the war in Vietnam.

But he rejected any idea of being "soft headed and pudding headed" on that grave issue.

Johnson placed heavy emphasis on the possibilities of informal talks between the South Vietnamese and the Communist National Liberation Front as a pathway to peace.

The President gave his views to White House correspondents of the three major television networks in an interview taped Monday and shown Tuesday night while he was flying the Pacific to Australia for memorial services for Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Johnson didn't say yes or no to a question about whether the United States would settle for nothing less than a military victory. But he said he thinks a fair solution could be worked out along these lines:

1. The demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam must be respected in accordance with a 1954 agreement on that.
2. The unity of Vietnam as a whole must be a matter for peaceful adjustments and negotiation.
3. North Vietnamese forces must get out of Laos and stop infiltrating that country as required by a 1962 agreement.
4. South Vietnam should be governed on the basis of one man-one vote constitutional government he said an overwhelming majority of its people want.
5. Good results could come from informal discussions which President Thieu of South Vietnam has said he is prepared to enter with members of the National Liberation Front. Johnson said he thinks that is a statesmanlike position.

And as for the role of this country, the President declared: "... I can say that so far as the United States is concerned we are ready to stop fighting tonight if they are ready to stop fighting."

"But we are not ready to stop our side of the war, only to encourage them to escalate their side of the war."

"We will reciprocate and meet any move that they make, but we are not going to be so soft headed and pudding headed as to say that we will stop our half of the war and hope and pray that they stop theirs."

Johnson had some digs at critics of his policy in Vietnam—and at some of the members of Congress who attacked his program and trimmed some of it in the session just ended.

He didn't mention names there, nor did he specifically single out the Republican Party by name.

"I am not saying ugly things about the individual," the President said. Those men think they are right. They don't want to take some of these new programs.

"They don't want to fund model cities, rent supplements, or face up to the urban requirements and what I think are 20th Century requirements."

"And I understand their philosophy. I have understood it for 35 years. They frequently are the preservers of stagnation. They want to keep things as they are. They don't want to move forward."

At the very end Johnson did say he is going to appeal to every Republican in the election to "do what is best for his country," without regard to politics or how it might cripple him. And then, he said, he thinks we will have a good Congress."

Food Stamp Plan To Reach 36 New States By June

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman announced Tuesday the government's food stamp plan for increasing food buying power of low income consumers will be extended to 38 additional areas in 36 states by next June 30.

Included in these areas will be one in Illinois, Boston, Salt Lake City, Seattle, San Antonio and New Orleans.

Freeman said some 600,000 additional consumers will be eligible for the program, which already is helping more than two million Americans.

Under the plan, eligible consumers get government stamps usable for the purchase of food at regular retail stores. These stamps are redeemed by the department through the banking system.

Low income consumers increase their food purchasing power by investing their own normal food expenditures in stamps and obtaining additional stamps free. On the average, a consumer gets $10 worth of stamps for a cash outlay of $6.

The secretary said that when the new extensions are made, the plan will be operating in about 1,200 counties in 43 states and the District of Columbia.

Illinois Top Corn Producer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)— Illinois was the nation's top corn producer this year with a crop of 1.092 million bushels, the state Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday.

Iowa, where the tall corn grows, was second with 930 million bushels.

The Illinois crop set a record for the state, exceeding the 919 million bushels in 1965. The yield per acre of 100 bushels was six bushels higher than the former record of two years ago.

The service said although farmers had trouble because of moisture, field losses of corn generally appear to have been moderate.

Soybean and wheat crops also set Illinois records, the service said.

Soybeans totaled 184 million bushels compared to the previous high of 177.6 million in 1965. The 1967 yield of 31 bushels an acre also was the highest ever.

Wheat production amounted to 76.6 million bushels, topping the old 1963 record of 71.4 million bushels.

Oats production totaled 41.7 million bushels compared to 34.4 million a year ago.

Illinois Top Corn Producer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt will replace George Washington as the face most seen on U.S. postage stamps when the cost of mailing a letter goes from 5 to 6 cents next Jan. 7.

The Post Office Department made public Tuesday the designs of five new stamps in connection with the increase, but the present brown 6-cent stamp bearing FDR's profile remains unchanged.

The Roosevelt stamp, issued early in 1966 as part of the "Famous American series," now will become the basic U.S. postage stamp, replacing the George Washington 5-cent stamp.

The first drive-in moving picture theater opened in Camden, N.J., in 1933.

McGovern Rips Wheeler Over Vietnam Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., sharply criticized Gen. Earle G. Wheeler Tuesday for, as McGovern put it, "blaming Hanoi's refusal to surrender on American critics of U.S. Vietnam policy."

The senator, a critic of the Vietnam war, said a recent statement by Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is "both irresponsible and irrelevant."

"The Pentagon and State Department are running out of excuses, so now they are blaming the failure of their policy on those who warned all along that it wouldn't work," McGovern said in a statement.

Wheeler, in a Detroit speech Sunday, said Americans have a right to dissent "but they also have a responsibility to recognize and acknowledge what their dissent means."

He declared: "The single most important factor prolonging the war is Hanoi's calculation that there is a reasonable possibility of a change in U.S. policy before the ultimate collapse of the Viet Cong manpower base and infrastructure."

McGovern said he stands by his position "that Vietnam is basically a political problem for the people of Vietnam to resolve. It can only be aggravated by military power from the outside."

Cody Services At New Berlin

NEW BERLIN — Requiem mass for John W. Cody was offered at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Catholic church with Monsignor John J. McGrath officiating.

Pallbearers were Joel Muench, Joe Haugh Sr., Theodore Abell, Edward Roesch, LaRue Jacobs and Eugene Kirby.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery. The McCullough Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Funeral services for Leo Scott were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Williamson Funeral Home with Reverend E. A. Feisal officiating. Alvin Middendorf, who sang "Going Down The Valley" and "The Old Rugged Cross," was accompanied by Mrs. G. O. Webster at the organ.

Pallbearers were John Rankin, Jeffie Zook, Kelly Grady, Al Gilliland, Don Brockhouse and Walter Wood.

Burial was in Concord cemetery.

ORDER LORENZ COURT APPEARANCE TO ANSWER CHARGE

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, was ordered Tuesday to appear in Circuit Court to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court in connection with a condemnation suit.

Judge Robert E. Hunt ordered that he appear Dec. 27 to answer a motion for a contempt citation. It was filed by an attorney for defendants in a condemnation suit filed by the agency Lorenz heads.

The Public Works Department filed a suit earlier this

TUNA CAN WATCH OUT

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's beautiful clear blue water is great for tourists, but a deterrent to tuna fishing, says Harold E. Crowther, director of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Department of Interior.

"The fish can see the net," he said. "It's the toughest thing to overcome."

Nevertheless, Crowther is confident that with increased technology Hawaii fishermen some day will be able to detect and then catch the speedy tuna.

Restaurant Ramblings

By SHARON WINSKE

It is always interesting to read about how certain foods acquired their names.

But first, let's look at some history about eating establishments.

During the 16th Century in England the public eating accommodations were in the form of long, common tables called "ordinaries" for serving all comers. These early dining rooms were in inns and soon became popular gathering places, especially for Londoners.

The name "restaurant" was first used in 1765 by a Paris eating place specializing in serving light dishes. Such light dishes were called "restoring" dishes, from which the word restaurant was derived.

Now, how about foods? Well, the hamburger and frankfurter were named for Hamburg and Frankfurt, Germany, the cities where these delicious delectables originated.

Costly Word To Airlines

'Delay' Nastiest Word To Airline Passenger

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It was Friday, the end of a tiring week. He looked forward to home. After his last call, he fought his way by taxi through rush hour traffic to the airport. Now, a little breathless, he cocked his glasses to better see the departure board. It confirmed his worst fears.

His flight, and six others, were marked: "Delay." See Agent.

Delay. The word haunts the nation's airlines and shrouds its airports. To the frustrated passenger it is the nastiest word in the English language. To the airlines it is the most expensive word in any language. To air controllers, faced with too much traffic, too much weather, and not enough runways, it is a disagreeable word, but it means safety.

In the year 1965, the U.S. air fleet lost more than 20 million minutes waiting in the air and on the ground at tower-controlled airports. That's more than 38 years of waiting.

It cost an estimated $84 million in fuel, pilot-time and other charges. Since 1965, air traffic has jumped more than 25 per cent. Costs are up, and without any specific study, so are delays.

Why? First, there are random, unpredictable breakdowns on the 1,000 jets and 1,300 prop aircraft that tote over 120 million passengers a year. Second, U.S. airports at busy metropolitan hubs can't hold their own against the rapid growth of air travel, the competitive scheduling of rush hour flights, and the predictable perversity of weather.

With little or no flexibility, the result is delay.

Behind these two main reasons are uncounted others: Everyone wants an airport, but no one wants the noise of airplanes. Everyone wants the 5 p.m. dinner flight. No one wants to leave at midnight. Every businessman thinks he's got to get there before lunch, or it shoots the whole day. Everyone wants longer, wider, safer runways, but no one wants to pay for them. The Federal Aviation Agency wants to buy more radar, more instrument landing systems, but the Budget Bureau explains there's a war on in Vietnam.

And the future? The 500-passenger jumbo jets are only two years away. The supersonic transport jets are only four years away. Airports, hemmed in by residential building, have no where to go. And the terminals, often located in the airport's center, keep demanding and getting more space for passenger gates. In between terminal building and airport limits, the squeeze is on the runways and the valuable taxiways for the airplanes.

To passengers, explanations for the delays are often incomplete, often puzzling, often quickly forgotten. Delays are remembered.

Arguments with ticket agents, lost baggage, and the private fear of a collision in an airplane being held in a stacking pattern. While equipment failure is an important cause of delays the culprit behind most delays is the airport itself, its airspace, and the traffic and weather that beset it.

There are more than 10,000 airports in the United States, but the airlines serve only about 550. There are some 22 major hub airports like New York's Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark, Los Angeles International, Chicago O'Hare. Yet those 22 handle 68 per cent of all the air traffic in the nation, and the lion's share of delays as well.

When most were built, the sites were vacant property surrounded by vacant property. Atlanta Airport was the racetrack at the county fairgrounds, Los Angeles was a pea patch, LaGuardia was an amusement park, a small private airfield and a lot of water.

While air travel boomed in the last 25 years, so have the cities the airports serve. Residential areas engulfed the airports. Land became so dear that home sites were sold right up to the airport fence.

Then along came the jet engine. Homeowners, apartment dwellers and civic leaders rebelled at the noise. It has become a critical area in airport efficiency. "We could handle a bigger volume of traffic with the same airports, if we had quiet engines," an FAA expert said.

But there aren't any quiet engines, and research prospects for them seem slim.

The size of runways is also a trouble spot. They must be thick to carry jet weight. They run of ten beyond 10,000 feet long, up to 200 feet wide.

The Air Line Pilots Association says four out of five accidents occur at or near airports. Most of these are on runways. Aircraft overrun, undershoot, or slide off the sides of runways too short or too narrow. From the pilot's viewpoint, it is too easy to lose control of a fast jet aircraft because of crosswinds, slippery runways, blown tires, dragging brakes, or the uneven thrust of the engines when the pilot reverses them to cut speed. Pilots want substantial runway shoulders and extensions for safety.

The FAA and the airlines are well aware the nation may be on the verge of yet another revolution in air travel, not yet recovered from the last. The prospects of each incoming plane unleashing 500 or even 900 passengers on airport facilities is frightening. Yet aircraft will likely be capable of carrying these enormous loads more cheaply than people fly now, and more often.

Newer airports are looking for new answers. The new airport at Tampa, Fla., will substitute satellite departure hubs radiating out from the main terminal building which will have passenger parking on its top four levels. The new airport at Houston, Tex., will be expandable, growing eventually to four terminal buildings. Both airports will use electric cars or trains to move passengers from point to point.

Los Angeles, with close to 20 million passengers a year now and more than double that by 1975, is going underground. Like an aircraft carrier, landings and takeoffs will occupy the deck area, with passengers and facilities below decks.

Even today's best operations are being outgrown. Chicago is now looking for more airport room. Some airlines are moving flights to once-abandoned Midway Field. City planners talk about a new basin-like airport dammed out of Lake Michigan waters. Pilots who know Lake Michigan weather question the practicality.

Proposals range from practical to desperate. It was only 63 years ago that the Wright brothers created the world's first landing field in an 80-acre cow pasture near Dayton, Ohio. Now, at peak times, there are some 6,000 or more planes in U.S. skies, all of them looking for a place to land. Cow pastures just don't do.

Copper Ghost Town May Yet Come Back

By ANDY MURPHY
Douglas, Ariz.,
Daily Dispatch Writer

TYRONE, N.M. (AP) — The nation's need for copper produced Tyrone, a $1 million showplace city at the foot of Burro Mountain. Abruptly, six years later, a crash in copper prices brought an end to production and started years of stagnation in the hot, desert sun.

Copper prices were high in 1915 when Phelps Dodge Corp. designed and built Tyrone. The plans called for a city without peer in southwestern New Mexico—an opera house, a fancy hotel, and a great hospital.

The city, 15 miles south of Silver City, N.M., would include two churches, a grand railroad station, a department store, service station and garage, justice of the peace court and schools.

The buildings contained central heating—something almost unknown in this part of the rugged West—and the hospital was one of the best-staffed and equipped in a wide area.

The town plaza 1,500 feet long and 300 feet wide was lovely, surrounded by flowers. The three-story company store put on sale the latest merchandise from Eastern and foreign markets with an elevator carrying shoppers to all floors.

In a large company apartment house 1,500 Mexican workers and their families lived. Company homes were provided elsewhere in Tyrone as well. Fire plugs dotted street corners. The city library held more than 5,000 books.

Then, six years later, the price of copper suddenly fell 25 per cent. The mines and mills shut down, and the hustle of Tyrone slowed to less than a walk. Weeds began to choke the community. Sagebrush piled high around the entrances to the mines.

As jobs ended, people left—most people, that is. For those hardy citizens who stayed with Tyrone's dream, their goal may finally be in sight.

Now Phelps Dodge says it will begin a multimillion-dollar revival of Tyrone, expecting production to reach 55,000 tons of copper in early years. The massive open pit mine will provide jobs for an estimated 1,100 people. Preparation will be a gigantic job with at least three years needed to get full operation going.

The gleaming white building of 1915 will be used temporarily.

then razed to make way for the open pit mine. No smelter is planned at the start. The concentrates will be shipped to Douglas, Ariz., and treated before being refined at the Phelps Dodge refinery at El Paso, Tex. Tyrone is still a city with a dream.

DIGITAL COMPUTERS COMPETE FOR SPOT UNDER YULE TREE

By AP Newsfeatures
Early Christmas shoppers can have more fun than late ones in this era of electronically propelled and sophisticated toys and games.

After all, dad must learn how to work the toys if he is going to explain them to his offspring. That's one reason digital computers and such are competing with electric trains as father-son toys.

Other intriguing toys are a pancake house and a drive-in restaurant where hamburgers or pancakes can be whipped up in from 9 to 11 minutes. The plastic-enclosed grill operates on one electric light bulb.

A real snappy turtle has been trained to answer whistle calls and commands like "go" and "stop" as he scoots across the floor. Tommy Turtle is 16 inches long and works on two batteries. Games provide adult intrigue too as they keep up with the times. Project Apollo is the basis for a new game. Count Down that uses NASA step-by-step procedures for building and launching rockets.

There are duplicating machines for children who'd like to print their own party invitations or make announcements of club and school events. The copying machine will make up to 30 duplicates of anything drawn or traced on its stencils. And there are new toy TV sets that let eager young enthusiasts whirl the dials without interference. One shows 12 movie cartoon favorites.

There are musical toys—plush Santas, rockers, baby swings and all sorts of boxes. For swingers, there is a new portable record player with a pop-up needle that automatically adapts to 45 or 33 1/2 r.p.m. records.

A modern doll carriage is styled to become a stroller and car bed. An easel has been designed to accommodate two young artists. And an imported donkey cart is just the thing for the pre-school set. It has a padded seat, heavy rubber wheels and sets behind a rubber donkey.

1966-1967 COLLEGE GRADUATES and THOSE ABOUT TO BE IN 1968

Curious about how we handle "new" and slightly "used" grads at Horace Mann? Find out for yourself how you can achieve personal growth and job success in an organization where those in the top three levels of management average 37 years of age. We are having an "open house" Wednesday, December 27th from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. for you — with tours, a luncheon, and a discussion of your Development Program, as it relates to you. Discussion participants:

- "What's in it for me, if I'm under 30?" Sanford Easlen, 25, Manager Birmingham Southern
- Terence Johnson, 25, Claims Supervisor Eastern Illinois
- Tom Niemeyer, 26, Staff Assistant Valparaiso
- Ross Gamble, 29, Manager Minnesota
- "What's in it for Horace Mann, if I'm under 40?" Gerald Lee, 30, Assistant Director Cincinnati
- Howard Fricke, 31, Assistant to the President, Illinois Wesleyan
- Robert Evans, 37, Vice President Indiana
- John Pecaric, 39, Vice President Illinois
- "What's in it for you and Horace Mann at any age?" Dan Bannister, 46, President Albany

If you are interested in spending all or any part of the day with us, please confirm with:

BUCKY'S CHRISTMAS CAPER

Costly Word To Airlines

'Delay' Nastiest Word To Airline Passenger

By JOHN BARBOUR

AP Newsfeatures Writer

It was Friday, the end of a tiring week. He looked forward to home. After his last call, he fought his way by taxi through rush hour traffic to the airport. Now, a little breathless, he cocked his glasses to better see the departure board. It confirmed his worst fears.

His flight, and six others, were marked: "Delay. See Agent."

Delay. The word haunts the nation's airlines and shrouds its airports. To the frustrated passenger it is the nastiest word in the English language. To the airlines it is the most expensive word in any language. To air controllers, faced with too much traffic, too much weather, and not enough runways, it is a disagreeable word, but it means safety.

In the year 1965, the U.S. air fleet lost more than 20 million minutes waiting in the air and on the ground at tower-controlled airports. That's more than 38 years of waiting.

It cost an estimated $61 million in fuel, pilot-time and other charges. Since 1965, air traffic has jumped more than 25 per cent. Costs are up, and without any specific study, so are delays.

Why? First, there are random, unpredictable breakdowns on the 1,000 jets and 1,300 prop aircraft that tote over 120 million passengers a year. Second, U.S. airports at busy metropolitan hubs can't hold their own against the rapid growth of air travel, the competitive scheduling of rush hour flights, and the predictable perversity of weather.

With little or no flexibility, the result is delay.

Behind these two main reasons are uncounted others:

Everyone wants an airport, but no one wants the noise of airplanes. Everyone wants the 5 p.m. dinner flight. No one wants to leave at midnight. Every businessman thinks he's got to get there before lunch, or it shoots the whole day. Everyone wants longer, wider, safer runways, but no one wants to pay for them. The Federal Aviation Agency wants to buy more radar, more instrument landing systems, but the Budget Bureau explains there's a war on in Vietnam.

And the future? The 500-passenger jumbo jets are only two years away. The supersonic transport jets are only four years away. Airports, hemmed in by residential building, have no where to go. And the terminals, often located in the airport's center, keep demanding and getting more space for passenger gates. In between terminal building and airport limits, the squeeze is on the runways and the valuable taxiways for the airplanes.

To passengers, explanations for the delays are often incomplete, often puzzling, often quickly forgotten. Delays are remembered.

People remember delayed honeymoons, missed wedding anniversaries, $5 parking tickets while waiting for passengers, 50-minute tieups on airport expressways and missed flights, arguments with ticket agents, lost baggage, and the private fear of a collision in an airplane being held in a stacking pattern. While equipment failure is an important cause of delays the culprit behind most delays is the airport itself, its airspace, and the traffic and weather that beset it.

There are more than 10,000 airports in the United States, but the airlines serve only about 350. There are some 22 major hub airports like New York's Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark, Los Angeles International, Chicago O'Hare. Yet those 22 handle 68 per cent of all the air traffic in the nation, and the lion's share of delays as well.

When most were built, the sites were vacant property surrounded by vacant property. Atlanta Airport was the racetrack at the county fairgrounds, Los Angeles was a pea patch, LaGuardia was an amusement park, a small private airfield and a lot of water.

While air travel boomed in the last 25 years, so have the cities the airports serve. Residential areas engulfed the airports. Land became so dear that home sites were sold right up to the airport fence.

Then along came the jet engine. Homeowners, apartment dwellers and civic leaders rebelled at the noise. It has become a critical area in airport efficiency. "We could handle a bigger volume of traffic with the same airports, if we had quiet engines," an FAA expert said.

But there aren't any quiet engines, and research prospects for them seem slim.

The size of runways is also a trouble spot. They must be thick, to carry jet weight. They run often beyond 10,000 feet long, up to 200 feet wide.

The Air Line Pilots Association says four out of five accidents occur at or near airports. Most of these are on runways. Aircraft overrun, undershoot, or slide off the sides of runways too short or too narrow. From the pilot's viewpoint, it is too easy to lose control of a fast jet aircraft because of crosswinds, slippery runways, blown tires, dragging brakes, or the uneven thrust of the engines when the pilot reverses them to cut speed. Pilots want substantial runway shoulders and extensions for safety.

The FAA and the airlines are well aware the nation may be on the verge of yet another revolution in air travel, not yet covered from the last. The prospects of each incoming plane unleashing 500 or even 900 passengers on airport facilities is frightening. Yet aircraft will likely be capable of carrying these enormous loads more cheaply than people fly now, and more often.

Newer airports are looking for new answers. The new airport at Tampa, Fla., will substitute satellite departure hubs radiating out from the main terminal building which will have passenger parking on its top four levels.

els. The new airport at Houston, Tex., will be expandable, growing eventually to four terminal buildings. Both airports will use electric cars or trains to move passengers from point to point. Los Angeles, with close to 20 million passengers a year now and more than double that by 1975, is going underground. Like an aircraft carrier, landings and takeoffs will occupy the deck area, with passengers and facilities below decks.

Even today's best operations are being outgrown. Chicago is now looking for more airport room. Some airlines are moving flights to once-abandoned Midway Field. City planners talking about a new basin-like airport dammed out of Lake Michigan waters. Pilots who know Lake Michigan weather question the practicality.

Proposals range from practical to desperate. It was only 63 years ago that the Wright brothers created the world's first landing field in an 80-acre cow pasture near Dayton, Ohio. Now, at peak times, there are some 6,000 or more planes in U.S. skies, all of them looking for a place to land. Cow pastures just don't do.

Copper Ghost Town May Yet Come Back

By ANDY MURPHY

Douglas, Ariz.

Daily Dispatch Writer

TYRONE, N.M. (AP) — The nation's need for copper produced Tyrone, a $1 million showplace city at the foot of Burro Mountain. Abruptly, six years later, a crash in copper prices brought an end to production and started years of stagnation in the hot, desert sun.

Copper prices were high in 1915 when Phelps Dodge Corp. designed and built Tyrone. The plans called for a city without peer in southwestern New Mexico—an opera house, a fancy hotel, and a great hospital.

The city, 15 miles south of Silver City, N.M., would include two churches, a grand railroad station, a department store, service station and garage, justice of the peace court and schools.

The buildings contained central heating—something almost unknown in this part of the rugged West—and the hospital was one of the best-staffed and equipped in a wide area.

The town plaza, 1,500 feet long and 300 feet wide was lovely, surrounded by flowers. The three-story company store put on sale the latest merchandise from Eastern and foreign markets with an elevator carrying shoppers to all floors.

In a large company apartment house 1,500 Mexican workers and their families lived. Company homes were provided elsewhere in Tyrone as well. Fire plugs dotted street corners. The city library held more than 5,000 books.

Then, six years later, the price of copper suddenly fell 25 per cent. The mines and mills shut down, and the hustle of Tyrone slowed to less than a walk. Weeds began to choke the community. Sagebrush piled high around the entrances to the mines.

As jobs ended, people left—most people, that is. For those hardy citizens who stayed with Tyrone's dream, their goal may finally be in sight.

Now Phelps Dodge says it will begin a multimillion-dollar revival of Tyrone, expecting production to reach 55,000 tons of copper in early years. The massive open pit mine will provide jobs for an estimated 1,100 people. Preparation will be a gigantic job with at least three years needed to get full operation going.

The gleaming white building of 1915 will be used temporarily, then razed to make way for the open pit mine. No smelter is planned at the start. The concentrates will be shipped to Douglas, Ariz., and treated before being refined at the Phelps Dodge refinery at El Paso, Tex. Tyrone is still a city with a dream.

DIGITAL COMPUTERS COMPETE FOR SPOT UNDER YULE TREE

By AP Newsfeatures

Early Christmas shoppers can have more fun than late ones in this era of electronically propelled and sophisticated toys and games.

After all, dad must learn how to work the toys if he is going to explain them to his offspring. That's one reason digital computers and such are competing with electric trains as father-son toys.

Other intriguing toys are a pancake house and a drive-in restaurant where hamburgers or pancakes can be whipped up in from 9 to 11 minutes. The plastic-enclosed grill operates on one electric light bulb.

A real snappy turtle has been trained to answer whistle calls and commands like "go" and "stop" as he scots across the floor. Tommy Turtle is 16 inches long and works on two batteries. Games provide adult intrigue too as they keep up with the times. Project Apollo is the basis for a new game. Count Down that uses NASA step-by-step procedures for building and launching rockets.

There are duplicating machines for children who'd like to print their own party invitations or make announcements of club and school events. The copying machine will make up to 30 duplicates of anything drawn or traced on its stencils. And there are new toy TV sets that let eager young enthusiasts whirl the dials without interference. One shows 12 movie cartoon favorites.

There are musical toys—plush Santas, rockers, baby swings and all sorts of boxes. For swingers, there is a new portable record player with a pop-up spindle that automatically adapts to 45 or 33 1/2 r.p.m. records.

A modern doll carriage is styled to become a stroller and car bed. An easel has been designed to accommodate two young artists. And an imported donkey cart is just the thing for the pre-school set. It has a padded seat, heavy rubber wheels and sets behind a rubber donkey.

$1.5 Million Federal Grant Reserved For 'Turnkey Project'

Congressman Paul Findley reported by telegram Wednesday morning that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a grant for a "Turnkey Project" in Jacksonville.

This is the first step of approval to insure the financial assistance to contract for purchase of 102 low-rent housing units for the elderly.

It also means that the Morgan County Housing Authority can extend a letter of intent to developers for contract of sale.

Mrs. Shearburn Of Modesto Dies, Rites Thursday

Mrs. Etta Shearburn, 87 year old lifelong resident of Modesto, died at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday at Passavant hospital where she had been a patient two days. Mrs. Shearburn suffered a fractured hip several months ago and had been cared for at the Melrose Nursing Home prior to her hospitalization.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Lewis and one son, Fred Shearburn of Jacksonville. The following children survive: Mrs. Mary Palaska of Modesto; Mrs. Alice Scheldt of Carlinville; Mrs. Irene Santo, Baton Rouge, La.; and Earl Shearburn of Waverly. There are a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

The deceased was a member of the Modesto Baptist church and had been very active in the Modesto Domestic Science club.

The remains were taken to the Stults Funeral Home in Palmyra where the family will meet friends 7 to 9 p.m. this evening.

Leonard Dolen Of Winchester Dies Wednesday

Leonard Dolen, 72 year old Winchester resident, died at 10:10 a.m. Wednesday at Holy Cross hospital where he had been a patient only one day.

The remains were taken to the Woodcock Funeral Home in Winchester.

Further obituary facts and funeral arrangements will be announced.

VANDALS TARGET PRACTICE ON U. S. RURAL MAILBOXES

JERSEYVILLE — Raymond Landon of the Jerseyville rural area reported to the office of Jersey County Sheriff Adam DeShleria that vandals had used his mail box which is some distance from his home, as a target for shot gun practice.

Three empty shot gun shells were found in the immediate vicinity of the mail box which had been badly damaged by the loads of shot.

A second Jersey county resident also reported shooting damage to their mail box, Mrs. Frank Cooper of the Gratton rural locality stated that their mail box on Gratton RFD had been shot into and damaged.

Mrs. Cooper also stated that the same thing occurred about the middle of last spring.

Sheriff Adam DeShleria expressed the opinion that the mail boxes were being used by vandals who were target practicing. He emphasized the fact that such acts directed against mail boxes constitute a Federal offense, and may be prosecuted as such.

Robert Snyder of Batchtown reported to night police that a glass in his car had been broken out while it was parked on a Jerseyville parking space.

The objective of the glass breaker was a high box of cigars that Snyder had purchased for the holiday season and had left on a seat in the vehicle. The glass breaker took the smokes.

Ralph Johnson also reported that the windshield of his car had been broken out by vandals while the car was parked in the lot at the rear of the Jerseyville Elks club.

Murrayville Notes
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walsh, Miss Alice Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Worrall attended the funeral service last week for Robert Allan at the Williamson Funeral Home, Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller and Lea Ann were dinner guests Sunday of his brother-in-law and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Moulton and Greg in Roodhouse.

Miss Betty Arnold of Jacksonville spent several days last week with Mrs. Irene Atkinson.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Sadie Million were Mr. and Mrs. Walter White of Franklin, David Million and children. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tendick and family, Frankie Wildhagen, Mr. and Mrs. David Hall and well alone when the walls caved in, burying him under about five feet of bricks and mud.

Ben McCoy, one of two men working on the surface, said he heard a rumble when the sides caved in. He looked down and "Lipscomb was gone, I couldn't see anything but dirt."

The workers summoned assistance. The Wake County sheriff's office, the Apex fire department and the Raleigh rescue squad and volunteers joined in the rescue.

Soon they succeeded in working a hose through the debris to Lipscomb and started pumping oxygen to the trapped man. After about four hours the workers uncovered Lipscomb's head.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Blimling and Debbie of Normal were Saturday night guests of her mother, Mrs. William H. Osborne and Peggy.

TEENS THREATEN TO TAKE OVER ELEVATED CAR

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago Transit Authority policeman arrested 15 teen-agers Tuesday night after the youth band threatened to take over one car of an elevated train.

William Grossman, the CTA detective, said he saw the youths at the Fullerton Avenue station where they were defacing billboards and smashing lights.

Grossman left a northbound train and followed the teens into a southbound train.

Grossman said the apparent leader of the youths, Jacques Panchel, 16, told 10 passengers of one car, "Get out of here. Go into another car. We're taking over this one."

Grossman intervened and the youths ignored him. He ordered the conductor to drive nonstop to the Clark and Division station and alerted police to the incident.

When the train reached the subway station, the police had not arrived. Grossman drew his pistol and ordered the youths off the car.

Five youths fled but the detective detained 15 others.

Authorities stated that the four were taken into custody after Jacksonville Mayor Byron Holtenbrink witnessed what he believed to be a short-change artist at work at Howard Johnson's restaurant.

When the four were apprehended it was learned they were driving a leased car from Georgia. A check with Georgia authorities revealed that the vehicle had been reported stolen.

City police then notified FBI authorities in Springfield who were investigating the incident Wednesday morning.

The four were identified as Marion Carlock, 30, and a woman identified as his wife, Dottie R. Carlock, 19, both of Wadsworth, Arkansas; William W. Fuller, 22, and Gene H. Scott, 22, both of Sacramento, Calif.

Carlock and the woman were charged with theft and illegal transportation of liquor. Fuller and Scott were also charged with illegal transportation.

The Carlocks were held on $500 bond each, and bond on the other two was set at $200 apiece.

Calls Murder Conviction Terrible Error

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Kirschke, a suspended deputy district attorney convicted of murdering his wife and her alleged lover, says the jury's decision was "a terrible error which in due time will be corrected."

He plans to appeal the verdict. The jury convicted Kirschke Tuesday after a 13-week trial. On Jan. 8 it will decide whether the penalty should be life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber. The prosecution said it had not decided whether to press for the death penalty.

"We haven't lost the war, son," Kirschke told young Doug Kirschke, 24, before bailiffs took him back to his cell. "We've just lost a battle. And from now on it's really going to be a battle."

The verdict was returned after 22 hours and 43 minutes of deliberation.

"It was Jack Kirschke's gun, it was his house, it was his bed, it was his wife, and it was his wife's lover," said prosecutor Albert Harris, an assistant attorney general.

"If Jack Kirschke didn't do it, then who did?"

The bodies of Kirschke's wife, fashion designer Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville Drankhan, 41, were found in the bedroom of the Kirschke's Long Beach apartment April 3.

Mrs. Kirschke's body was found on a bed, clad only in a kimono top and shot in the head. Drankhan was sprawled fully clothed on the floor next to the bed, also shot in the head.

It was never clearly established when the shootings took place—the bodies were discovered too long after death for medical experts to pinpoint the time.
